German Village Edits Souvenir Publication

The German Village Publishing Co., Inc., has been formed for the publication of promotional and souvenir materials of German Village.

Formed with Jim Gruett and Don Scully as editor and business manager respectively (both men are associated with the Old World Bazaar at 555 City Park) the "Villager" is in the form of a monthly newspaper designed to resemble publications of a 100 years ago.

Interspersed with shopping news and news of the chicken thieves which were infesting the north end of the city in 1868 are included in the first issue.

It also reports the statement of an earlier President Johnson who apparently was not as "vocal" as LBJ. He issued the comment that he had not sent any message to the new Congress as he had no communication to make.

According to early information "new publication with a refreshing old look" is already being mailed to German Village visitors from 18 states and four foreign countries.
