

5/16/92

Dear Mrs. O'Brien,

Thank you very much for your letter of the 9th.

I've heard nothing more from Wisconsin. I hope they are able to proceed with the scientific testing.

We do keep a mailing list and I'm sure you are already on it. We always hope against probability that I'll be able to publish more.

There have been changes in publishing attitudes. Book publishers are now fighting to be able to print JFK assassination books but nothing really good or dependable has appeared and much that is terrible, probably misleading more young people but misleading all. Reporters now call me more often, from all media.

I do appreciate your concern for my health. If it deteriorates no more I'll be both lucky and happy.

and, at my age and with all that is wrong with me I'm lucky to still be here and lucky to be able to do anything.

I do stay busy, too!

Again thanks and all best wishes,

Harold Weisberg

books herewith

Carolyn Fabbri O'Brien

---

8 Coolidge Ave., White Plains, N.Y. 10606

May 9, 1992

Dear Mr. Weisberg,

Thank you for taking the time and interest to respond to my letter. The story about "Oswald" pictured in front of the TSBP building in the Altgens photo, as well as that of his shirt and Lovelady's inability to produce same has me fascinated and baffled. It would be a real breakthrough if scientific analysis by Wisconsin Public TV could resolve this question once and for all. If this ever occurs, either through their efforts or those of other credentialed researchers, what do you think of the chances of the information becoming public- especially in view of the grossly unfair treatment you have received from the publishing industry? Toward that end, I will be very grateful if you could keep my name and address on a mailing list so that I may receive future investigative updates such as the flyer you enclosed and from which I am ordering.

Obviously, I am a great admirer of yours and have the utmost respect for your determination in using the legal system, your own investigative acumen and combining these with a wonderful writing style. I sincerely hope that your resoluteness is manifesting itself in a positive way with regard to your health.

With all best wishes,

Carolyn O'Brien