P.S., Mr. O'Neill 33/77

There have been further inquiries I share with you while recording them for the future in my own files.

It seems that after six months you Sherlockian wizards have found one described as the chief nurse at Parkland Hospital. From her it is alleged they learned that more fragments were removed from Governor Connaly's body than are accounted for. In one version it is also represented that then Governor Connally sustained other wounds also not reported.

One could establish whether or not the latter is true, if it is seriously believed, much less expensively than you have arranged and certainly on a more friendly basis by inviting the governor to a Turkish bath. If not by phoning him and/or his wife.

Only is those steeped in ignorance - and after six months this should be a Congressional record for clinging to ignorance - have questions about the fact or the public record on Governor Connally and fragments.

One of his doctors, as I recall Charles Gregory, said what the whole crew of them agreed to in one way or another, that there were more fragments of bullet in his wrist alone than could be account for as missing from the bullet that allegedly caused all seven non-fatal wounds.

There were, of course, still other fragments, also not secret. It is in the publoshed testimony. Also in my first book, which dates to 1965. After the cleansing of the wounds there remains a fragment in the chest and another in the left thigh.

After the dosage of what I suppose they describe as "briefings" you have had for you to support these clowns yoi must be able to accept enything, the darker the jints the blacker the headlines.

But I do suggest that for there to exist other monnally fragenteerfragentee fragments requires an unprecedented conspiracy. It would have to be monumental in size and entirely without purpose. It would begin with three eminent physicians, a number of other doctors of varying disciplines like radiologists and anaethhelogists, still others junior in rank and what for a hospital would be a small army of nurses and attendants. This legion would have had to be cued in to a much larger conspiracy in order to be able to conspire effectively - if pointlessly- the moment of the crime.

In the past I have told you that all of this is linked to a six-figure commercial project put together with the committee's lusty participation by Mark Lane. It lingers despite some trouble with his book the proofs of which have reportedly been withdrawn. Your pure of heart Members reportedly almost made him chief counsel. Whatever the House and the public might have thought of this it was not inappropriate for the committee which owes its existence to his fabrications. The committee apparently considered it had not repaid this debt by giving him the work of others after receiving this work with the solemn assurance it would not be given to others, particularly not to him, simply because he, like the committee since then, has never been able to steal straight and to read and understand.

Truth and fact are inadequate, thus after six months nothing has been confirmed and unconfirmed irrelevancies pour out. Truth has to be improved upon. As Jim Garrison used to put it, "objectified."
