

DAY NOVEMBER 1, 1959

Covered the ice for many years and was once considered the most widely performed in professional skating. Mr. Taylor journeyed through Europe, to Africa and to the Middle and Far East. His daughter won the U.S. figure skating championship in 1938 after four years of placing second.

R. JACK WITTEN DIES

Bachelor Physician Rared
Homeless Virginia Boys

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Oct. 31.—
Jack W. Witten, a bachelor physician who reared several dried homeless boys, died yesterday at the age of 79.
Mr. Witten started rearing children in 1907 after he had promised a dying widowed mother that he would care for her 7-year-old son. Fifteen years later he acquired the second son, a lonely young runaway.
After that his protégés increased quickly until at one

HAROLD OBER, 78, BOOK AGENT, DIES

Head of Concern Here That Represents Famed Writers
—A Breeder of Dogs

Harold Ober, of Dromore Road, Scarsdale, N.Y., a literary agent here for many years, died yesterday of a heart attack in Doctors Hospital. His age was 78.

Mr. Ober was head of Harold Ober Associates, 40 West Forty-ninth Street. This agency represents such widely known authors as William Faulkner, Philip Wylie, Pearl Buck, Faith Baldwin, Catherine Drinker Bowes, Corey Ford, J. D. Salin-ton, John Burroughs, Franklin Giambrone, W. E. B. DuBois, and others. He was a member of the American Society of Authors and Authors' League, and a member of the Society of Authors and Publishers.

Mr. Ober was a Democrat.

Known also as a breeder of dogs, Mr. Ober was a former president of the American Club of America in the Boston Club of America. He was a French sheep dog. Mr. Ober was a member of the American

Kennel Club and had been a

Judge at dog shows.

A graduate in 1905 of Harvard, Mr. Ober taught at the University of New Mexico. He entered the literary agency field in 1919 with Pauline Pfeiffer, Nineteen Hundred, with the firm of Pauline Pfeiffer and Son. During World War I he served overseas with the American Red Cross. He was a member of the Harvard Club of New York.

Surviving are his wife,

Robert R. Lane
SUMMIT, N.J., Oct. 31 (AP)— Robert R. Lane, a newspaper man for fifty years, died today in his home in Summit, N.J. He was 86 years old. He was born in 1874.

Mr. Lane returned in 1919 to

New York and became a reporter for the "Daily News." In 1922 he joined the staff of the "New York Journal" and remained there until 1937. He then became managing editor of the "Daily News" and remained in that position until

1948. He then became managing editor of the "Daily News" again until 1952. He then became managing editor of the "Daily News" again until 1954. He then became managing editor of the "Daily

News" again until 1956. He then

became managing editor of the "Daily

News" again until 1958. He then

became managing editor of the "Daily

News" again until 1959. He then

became managing editor of the "Daily

News" again until 1960. He then

became managing editor of the "Daily

News" again until 1961. He then

became managing editor of the "Daily

News" again until 1962. He then

became managing editor of the "Daily

News" again until 1963. He then

became managing editor of the "Daily

News" again until 1964. He then

became managing editor of the "Daily

News" again until 1965. He then

became managing editor of the "Daily

News" again until 1966. He then

became managing editor of the "Daily

News" again until 1967. He then

became managing editor of the "Daily

News" again until 1968. He then

became managing editor of the "Daily

News" again until 1969. He then

became managing editor of the "Daily

News" again until 1970. He then

became managing editor of the "Daily