

"I thought you said you were coming in today." At three in the morning, I asked here. There she was lying a bed near a window and that it was, before daylight ^{light} did not register on her. So much for her state of mind, ^{and possible medication,} fine as her spirit is.

For some months before she feel she was having trouble walking and regularly I took her to ~~the~~ p.t., which was denied me by my heart doctor, locally.

Or, this more difficult ~~part~~ period is months ^{old} now.

Ordinarily, up at 2, shortly thereafter I'd have gone out for the a.m. paper that is usually here by 2, but with the ^(u) weather forecast and the little air that infiltrates when there us a strong wind I did not risk the wind-chill, short a ^(s) distance as it is to the car. I have to later when I must get some medicines I ordered Thursday and then forget to go get. That can mean a problem because the closest parking space, and the closest ^(e) are always taken, is about 75 feet from the entrance. At the hospital it may means ^(did) 200 feet. Risky for me.

Yet I do want to go there more than usual because in the morning a friend will drive me to Johns Hopkins for examination by a nephrologist there who examines on Monday's and operates of Fridays. That I got an ^(c) appointment on the first day ~~after~~ he examines after the request was made seems to me to reflect urgency or someone using some pull. Then I realized that I have an appointment the next day, Tuesday, with the cardiologist there. The trip alone times me for several days so the friend who ^{(will take me earlier,} is driving me ^{so} I do not want that extra tiredness before whatever form of surgery there will be. We are going to leave earlier tomorrow morning on the off chance that the cardiologist is not teaching then and can see me and is willing to or to cancel the appointment and just wait to be examined. That will make a longer and a more tiring day of it.

With all this rambling I get to the point: There is no us rush for getting a copy of the mg. to me because it will be at least a week before I can get to it, assuming they ~~will~~ operate Friday. Then there is the problem that there would not be anyone here to accept it, what I had not thought of. So I think it will be best to send ~~it~~ it to me by sending it to Jerry.

When I say no rush I mean not to use the more costly form of shipping but I think not using the post office, if that is what you used last time. There has been some trouble with it with you have ^(met) in the past, long delays, and with some of what ^{(Some never get here,} Dave has sent. And however you do it, thanks in advance.

If I have given you the impression that I fail to appreciate the great amount of work you are going for me and I think for the country, I am sorry. I do very much appreciate it and Dave and Jerry ^(and Bill) can ~~with~~ tell you how I've wondered that you could find the time and then were so generous with it. It has made a vast different especially in what in the future will be legible and easier to understand. Especially in comparison with those in a better position to do some of that and not doing any of it. Not even when offered pay for doing it.

I certainly did not intend anything like what you took from it and I am sorry about it. I can't really account for it other than perhaps from being so much close^{er} to under the gun, so much less able in so many ways and worry about lil and the coming new sets of problems we face. Hopefully!

That I seem to have offended you was on my mind when I lay awake without the hearing aids in, ^{when lil} which did get me up. Nothing could be more the opposite of the great appreciation I have for what so unselfishly and I'm sure at some personal sacrifice you have done.

Please believe me, I, and more than I, appreciate this very much.

Best,

David

What may also be a factor, and with all the ~~be~~ heavy things on my mind I cannot say, is my concern over what you said in your last letter and the possibility of the fine help you are giving be a danger to your employment, as I said before. MPI films had a documentary on the JFK assassination and could not place it in the US. Canada, France and I think Italy went for it. The attitude I faced with the first book lingers, alas. ...When Dave phoned today as + understood him he has 18 unpublished manuscripts and knows of six or eight others. When Jerry was here, I suggested to him, if you are willing and drive here next noth, that you take the massive beginning of the unpunished, Inside the JFK Assassination Industry. I had corrections Dennis's people did not make. Also and also massive, my Mailer evisceration, retyped, as [^]the one above, but with corrections not all posted.

Clay, you have not been merely a valuable friend, you have been a godsend and I've never said or thought otherwise. To illustrate what had me concerned when I heard the title but did not know you'd used the original title as a subtitle, the subtitle was eliminated from NEVER AGAIN! People had no idea what it was about and did not buy it. Many of those who looked inside, and did, have written me about it. They like it. But Case Open, which was messed up in publication, with a subtitle, sold out. Again thanks and have a fine holiday.

+

stand. Especially in comparison with those in a better position to do some of that and not doing any of it. Not even when offered pay for doing it.

I certainly did not intend anything like what you took from it and I am sorry about it. I can't really account for it other than perhaps from being so much close^r to under the gun, so much less able in so many ways and worry about lil and the coming new sets of problems we face. Hopefully!

That I seem to have offended you was on my mind when I lay awake without the hearing aids in, ^{when lil} which did get me up. Nothing could be more the opposite of the great appreciation I have for what so unselfishly and I'm sure at some personal sacrifice you have done.

Please believe me, I, and more than I, appreciate this very much.

Best,

David

What may also be a factor, and with all the se heavy things on my mind I cannot say, is my concern over what you said in your last letter and the possibility of the fine help you are giving be a danger to your employment, as I said before. MPI films had a documentary on the JFK assassination and could not place it in the US. Canada, France and I think Italy went for it. The attitude I faced with the first book lingers, alas. ...When Dave phoned today as + understood him he has 18 unpublished manuscripts and knows of six or eight others. When Jerry was here, I suggested to him, if you are willing and drive here next month, that you take the massive beginning of the unpublished, Inside the JFK Assassination Industry. I had corrections Dennis's people did not make. Also and also massive, my Mailer evisceration, retyped, as ^vthe one above, but with corrections not all posted.

Clay, you have not been merely a valuable friend, you have been a godsend and I've never said or thought otherwise. To illustrate what had me concerned when I heard the title but did not know you'd used the original title as a subtitle, the subtitle was eliminated from NEVER AGAIN! People had no idea what it was about and did not buy it. Many of those who looked inside, and did, have written me about it. They like it. But Case Open, which was messed up in publication, with a subtitle, sold out. Again thanks and have a fine holiday.

H