Bad Review? 8/21/97
It's A Conspiracy!

Why did the News & Review movie critic, Jim Lane, severely criticize Conspiracy Theory? What is Lane's and the News & Review's agenda? If it's attempting to undermine the concept that we exist in a conspiratorial world of shadow governments and corrupt leaders, I don't think the critique was fair or even close to accurate! At least now we know your true colors.

Mel Gibson, plays a conspiracy-realist cab driver (Jerry Fletcher) who hits the U.S. government's treachery right on the head. Lane says, "[T]his film offers us a giddy glimpse into the abyss of mental illness...." Maybe Lane should have his head checked!? In the flick, Gibson convinces Julia Roberts (Alice Sutton—a Department of Justice lawyer) that if he's so kooky, why are black-fatigued FEMA troops trying to kill him and then both of them? Gibson/Fletcher obviously nails the powers-that-be's schemes and they want to silence him/them. However, Lane laments that Gibson/Fletcher is a "conspiracy obsessed yahoo." Instead it should be: Yahoo Gibson/Fletcher, Roberts/ Sutton and director Richard Donner portray reality to a tee!

"Conspiracy Theory Offers a Glimpse into the Disturbed Mind," so says the review. I guess a number of us patriotic Americans are bent out of shape that "Slick Willie" and "Queen Hillary" and cadre have helped subvert the U.S. Constitution and are fulfilling the New World Order's agenda. By the way, it's suppose to be completed and solidified by 2000. "1984" all over again! In the photo used for the review, it depicts Roberts/Sutton in Gibson/Fletcher's apartment in front of a collage featuring a picture of John Lennon. Yes, Lennon was part of the grand-conspiracy reality and the status quo's attempt to subvert peaceful change! Lennon's killer, Mark David Chapman, was a programmed assassin that was a victim of mind control. Lane did forget to mention one film that very accurately reflects reality—Three Days of the Condor.

If you want to be enthralled and entertained, go see a matinee (less expensive) showing of Conspiracy Theory.

JFK Assassination Class Dropped

Los Angeles Times

Mission Viejo, Orange County

After receiving more than 200 angry calls from the public, the South Orange County Community College District yesterday canceled a seminar that claims a conspiracy was behind the assassination of President Kennedy.

The district's Board of Trustees had approved $5,000 to bring in four speakers — including one panelist who accuses the Israeli intelligence agency, Mossad, of masterminding Kennedy's murder in 1963. The class was strongly criticized by some faculty members and the Anti-Defamation League.

Amid the furor, Steven J. Frogue, the seminar's instructor and the chairman of district's board, decided yesterday to move the forum off the Saddleback College campus, where it had been scheduled. The seminar was a non-academic credit offering through the community education department.

Meanwhile, one of the planned speakers, Chicago author Sherman Skolnick, faxed a letter to Saddleback College President Ned Doffney on Thursday denying he had agreed to participate in a seminar "attempting to blame the murder of President Kennedy on Jews" and accusing Frogue of "slandering and blackening my name."
