Re PFC Lee H. OSWALD,
1653230, USMC

My dear Mrs. Oswald:

The above-named Marine has applied for an allowance in your behalf and pending a determination as to entitlement, he has registered the required voluntary allotment to you.

Under current regulations, parents are deemed eligible dependents for the purpose of an allowance if the Marine has provided their principal support and if their income from sources other than the Marine does not constitute their principal support. Dependency is determined on the basis of a Parent's Dependency Affidavit completed by the parent; therefore, in order to determine your dependency, it is requested that you complete the enclosed form of affidavit in detail, acknowledge it in the presence of a notary public or other official authorized to administer oaths and return it to the Commandant of the Marine Corps, Code DNB, Washington 25, D. C.

If you are not dependent on the Marine, please write that fact on the form, sign and return it to the address given above.

If it is determined that you are dependent on the Marine for your principal support, the allotment registered to you will be increased to include the allowance contributed by the government.

An instruction sheet is enclosed for your guidance in completing the form.

If a reply is not received within thirty (30) days, it will be necessary to disapprove the application filed in your behalf.

Sincerely yours,

Ed. #10235-28

1. It is concluded that the subject case is indistinguishable from the case cited in the eighth endorsement on the basis of fact. In the cited case, it is noted that the injuries sustained were the direct result of the careless use or handling of the weapon, whereas in the instant case was the result of an accidental fall of the weapon to the deck, resulting in its discharge.

2. Accordingly, the Judge Advocate General holds that the injuries to Private Lee E. Rowland, U. S. Marine Corps, on 12 June 1956, were incurred in the line of duty and were not the result of his own misconduct.

3. Pursuant to 1045 MCM, and 6707 prescribing that the records of the ordering and relieving authorities, no investigation reports shall be placed thereon by endorsement. This action is deemed the most endorsement on subject record.

4. Subject to the foregoing, the proceedings in the attached are legal.

1. The Adjutant General of the Marine Corps
1957, Bureau of Medicine and Surgery

2. - Injuries to PVT Lee K. OSWALD, 1653293, USMC,
on 27 October 1957

3. Request for information and return.

The report of investigation reveals that the subject placed a loaded Remington-Union .32 caliber pistol in his locker on 27 October 1957, as Private Oswald opened his locker to retrieve a book, the above mentioned weapon fell to the floor and struck Private Oswald in the left elbow.
The investigating officer was of the opinion that the injury incurred in the line of duty and was not the result of negligence. The third, seventh and eighth paragraphs do not approve the basic finding of no negligence.

Misconduct is wrongful conduct. Simple or ordinary negligence, however, does not constitute misconduct. The violation of a law, regulation or order does not,
of itself, constitute misconduct. In order to support a finding of misconduct, it must be found that the injury was directly incurred, or resulted from negligence which was so gross as to demonstrate a reckless disregard of the consequences. 1955 USMC, sec. 0405b.

4. It is recognized that firearms are inherently dangerous and their use demands the highest degree of care. In the instant case, the record reveals that Oswald displayed a certain degree of carelessness or negligence by his act of storing a loaded pistol in his locker where there was the possibility that it might be accidentally moved. Such carelessness on his part, however, is not deemed to be so gross as to indicate an utter or reckless disregard of the consequences.

JAC:JA.1:cds
Enc. #10285-58

5. It is considered that the subject case is distinguishable from the case cited in the eighth endorsement to the basic report. In the cited case, it is noted that the injuries sustained were the direct result of the reckless use or handling of the weapon, whereas the injury in the instant case was the result of an accidental fall of the weapon to the deck, resulting in its discharge.

Accordingly, the Judge Advocate General holds that the injuries to Private Lee H. Oswald, U. S. Marine Corps, on 22 October 1967, were incurred in the line of duty and were not the result of his own misconduct.

Inasmuch as 1955 NSM, sec. 0707 prescribes that the actions of the entering and reviewing authority for an investigation report shall be placed thereon by endorsement, this action is deemed the ninth endorsement on subject record.

Subject to the foregoing, the proceedings in the attached case are legal.
