

Dear Emory,

Brown

2/18/76

Sorry I can't help much with your yesterday's letter, which came fast.

My mind has been taken up with other writing, as intensively as I think a post-phlebotic can write, suing, with three cases active, a monstrous consultancy in which I was deceived last year and now ~~xxx~~ current, and unrelieved medical problems.

I slept little last night, had to get up at 7:30 to go to Washington by bus because it is unwise for me to drive, they started wearing new and binding supports from the navel down, and the combination tired. Because I know the morning will start with this wretched business to which I'm committed - and can hope little about destinking a stinker - ~~xxxxxxx~~ respond before bed not to let it go unnoticed. The stacks are many and great since October!

I don't know the answer on LHO's language training. I am inclined to think that it was not for real or if it were, his records went into the memory hole long ago, unless a copy escaped. But I have no idea how to find it.

A Manning
0 - Dallas I was not aware of the blood-type difference. I wish I could tell whether or not either was an accidental error. Or if O is given in emergencies when there is no time for testing and no record available.

Have you checked the Form 20 to see if it permits detached duty for the language study? Or whether he could have gotten their books or done it by mail?

It has been so long I don't recall now.

Thanks and best,
