Date: December 5, 1963

Mr. L. BRIGHT, owner of the New Orleans Printing Company, 811 Camp Street, was reinterviewed at which time he stated that the two men who had come into his shop several months ago and were highly incensed by OSWALD's passing out literature in front of the International Trade Mart might not have been RAFAEL (LNU) and ROBERTO MARTINEZ MARTINEZ. He said from his recollection he thought the above two men were the men who had come into his shop but he said he does not speak Spanish and Spanish speaking men who are referred to him by the Queen Inn, 823 Camp Street, because they cannot speak English, he cannot keep them straight in his mind and he said he may have made a mistake. He said he could suggest no other possibilities as to the identity of the two men who had come into his shop and told him about OSWALD passing out literature in front of the International Trade Mart.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date: December 5, 1963

Father ANTHONY, Queen Inn, 823 Camp Street, advised on December 5, 1963 that he knew a Cuban male named RAFAEL HUGO FROMETA who came from New York, he thought and who was a longshoreman and seaman. He said FROMETA was the RAFAEL referred to by Mr. L. BRIGHT of the New Orleans Printing Company because he said he had discussed this matter with BRIGHT. Father ANTHONY said FROMETA always stayed at the Queen Inn when he was in New Orleans and said that his records indicated that FROMETA left on May 25, 1963 after saying he was to sail on a ship to Japan. FROMETA returned to New Orleans on October 16, 1963 and on the 16th and 17th of October stayed at the Queen Inn. Father ANTHONY said FROMETA had indicated to him that he had a job on some ship in Mobile, Alabama. Father ANTHONY said he had no idea where FROMETA could be at the present time. He said in New Orleans that FROMETA was at the Queen Inn, 823 Camp Street, and that he had a job on a ship in Mobile, Alabama.
