Dear Marina,

Yesterday Tom Jones phoned to tell me that Deborah Crouch had not had time to interview you for me but that she would. She must have misunderstood me or I did not make myself clear enough. I ~~never~~ neither asked for nor need an interview. She had said that you'd found errors in what Mailer wrote and I said I'd like to know what they are. I asked him to tell Deborah that I need no interview.

I've written, as I think I told you, two chapters based on his infamous mistreatment of you. My wife, who has not done any typing like this in years, has retyped the first of those two chapters. It is much easier to read than what I do! If you would like to read it, then when the other is retyped, I'll be glad to send you copies.

A very nice woman in the copublisher's office says that as I'd asked she sent you Case Open and NEVER AGAIN! By accident the index was omitted in the new book. I've not read or checked the index but in turning pages I saw a few errors. If you would like it I'll send you a copy. It was xeroxed from proofs on paper this size.

When I had no copies of the index I asked Gary Mack to ~~ask those~~ make copies for those down there who wanted it. Since getting copies I've asked him to ask those who want copies to please send me stamped envelope that are addressed to them to save me time I do not want to take from the writing. I then had only one copy and made a copy for Gary.

I tell you this in the event you know some who may want the index. If they want it without being bent they should use a larger envelope. That requires four stamps.

Best wishes,

Harold
