Interview with "Dr. Paul Peters," Parkland Hospital

C. Dr. Peters, in your testimony before the Warren Commission, you characterized the head wound as being in the right occipital-parietal area.

A. That's correct.

C. (Reads) "There was a large defect, there appeared to be bone loss and brain loss in that area." And you still stand by that?

A. That's correct.

C. OK. We have brought along a model of a human skull and we would ask you to draw on that exactly where you saw the wound.

A. It's in that? OK. Sure.

C. We have a magic pencil here. If you would use, mind using this one, it'll. We can then, since we only have one of our friends here, it's a little fine point but if you can draw it would be helpful.

A. Yeah. I mean that's just about the way I remember it.

C. I see. That small? That's interesting
