Gaeton Fonzi a former researcher for the House Assassination Committee which looked into the death of John F. Kennedy published an article in the Washingtonian Magazine in 1980. The article concerned Mr. Fonzi's efforts involved in getting to the bottom of the conspiracy behind the President's death. Much of what Mr. Fonzi's article was about, we already knew, with the exception of how the author really felt about what the committee accomplished and its shortcomings. We all know we were delt a misdral by the Assassinations Committee just as we were during the days of the Warren Report. But what is of extreme interest is the case involving Maurie Bishop. I need not explain his involvement, for he is the key, but I would like to pick up on a statement between Fonzi and Antonio Veciana. Those of you who have read Fonzi's article know of the meeting between the author, David Phillips and Veciana. Veciana did not identify Phillips as Maurice Bishop at that face to face confrontation. When asked by Fonzi if Phillips were Bishop, Veciana replied, "No, it is not him." Then added, "Well, you know, I would like to talk with him." This quote from the article stuck with me because it appears once again towards the end. This time Fonzi is visiting Veciana informally and asks him, "I would like you to tell me this one time very truthfully: Would you have told me if I had found Maurice Bishop?" Veciana's reply was, "I would like to talk with hime first." That statement coupled with the one made previous at the face to face meeting can be interpreted in two ways. The first being that Veciana would like to talk with Bishop first before identifying him, and this could be for his own protection or personal reasons, and there are many. Secondly, if the first reasoning is true, then one could almost assume that from Veciana's statement to Fonzi that Phillips is Bishop. Now more fuel for the fire. I understand that there is a legal suit in the making involving Gaeton Fonzi, The Washintonian and David Phillips. I do not have details of the suit at this printing, but hope to find out facts concerning this within the next few weeks. It would be interesting to see this come to trial and just what the media does with it, if anything at all. Bob Cutler, publisher of the Grassy Knoll Gazette in Manchester, Massachusetts told me that a lawyer in Baltimore is handling the case. Speculation is that it will take at least two years before it gets into court. I told Bob that I wouldn't be surprised if David Phillips suddenly vanished as things became heated. People involved in this seem to suddenly die of natural causes or commit suicide. Strange isn't it.

Without the underground movement and newsletters such as The Grassy Knoll Gazette, articles by Penn Jones etc. we will never get to the truth and make it public. I do not wish any profit from this effort, it is simply the fact that I am tired of all the bull that has been fed to us. Like many other researchers, I really believed that the House Assassinations Committee would make a clean sweep of JFK's murder and solve the crime of the century, but alas, fairytales do not come true. After that letdown I began my own research and now I've begun this newsletter. Someday the truth will be number one on a committee's list, and the American people will at last know just how their president was murdered and why and by whom. Until then, we search, print and continue. Bishop Is The Key.
