

The Playboy Mountain has finally moved. In silence. Jim McKinley told me yesterday that through all the corporate chain of command, even the management of the Bunny Clubs and up to and including Heffner, there had been a Decision. Jeff Norman refused to tell him what it is on the ground that a Letter had been written to me. The only indication is that it is not negative. I'll have to await the mail on whatever it may be. I'm to call Jim Wednesday if I've heard by then. He suggested tomorrow but I felt that an extra day would not hurt with a holiday weekend.

Bureaucracies are all alike. That this one took only three months is not really surprising. Nor is their failure to speak to me or to Jim even once. No questions to ask. They know all.)So far.) Best, HW
