

12/31/72 In my today's note to LF, of which I planned before writing to send you a copy, I omitted a number of the things I noted not to influence any subsequent interpretation he might make or you thinking if one or both of you decides to read it. However, there is one of these I do not want to forget. I do not suggest it is more than coincidence, but I am unwilling to ignore this among so many other coincidences until I am certain they are no more. It has a man working in the White House named Hamilton. This was one of Hunt's fake passport names. I've recently sent you a Ross story on this that LF didn't send me. There was that movie actor who hung around the LBJ White House, also Hamilton (George?) One who could have written this book is Fletcher Prouty. I have heard nothing of him from the CIA people in months. When last I did, he was on their board. He also worked in the WH for the CIA in JFK's day. He is, or at least was, a banker. It is $31.50 book, so it could pay to mail both ways if you'd like to read without buying. It is 1/4 way through it but, as often happens with any respiratory trouble, has lost her voice. She'll probably finish before the next mail unless I should have to go into town tomorrow. HW
