Dear Jiva,

rePost Hortem

$3 / 4 / 75$

lour cost estinates are optinistic for a nuaber of reasons. When I Iast nede inquiry, about 3 yrs ago, it was in the neighborhord of $$ 15,000$ for a 5,000 print.

That ineluded the more exponsive sewn bincing. WWIV has a Berfoct bindinfe Even tiat best oi these can break. And we are talking about a book of over 600 pages, not 224 . Bithor 6030 or 640 pages and it could easily be larger with a better appendix. I have a fantastic apoendix that will have to be cut heavily under any circunstances. If only 608 pages a suinapy appendix. "enauber, this is three books in one. I regard an extensive appendix as both umroal and necessary, particularly necessary because of political developments since I completed the work. I have the repages and partly-coutracted master securidy wrapped and placed in a socure place so I canct easily get the last pugs number. It is well over 500.
 yoars as a osse study in thepperations of conutissions, for exomple. and there are wany other much probabilities in bollege uses. So there are two neans of bectiding on the Iise of the aprandix, assuang there is a litile financiel leaway. One is what is the mentrum nood for tho aredibility of the book itself. the other is what can be useful for years to come for othens in owher work and in this work. If these documents are not printed for all practical purposes they will be suppressed for future scholarship of any kind.

For all its liabilities, and I beliove I am aware of about all, this is a remarkably definitive work. I am confident that it can really bust the whole thine wide open and will forever alfoinate the frightful mouthings you have heard recently from b lin and Willens. Especialily Spuctor. the book could have a separate Pennsylvania inpact.

But you can learn costs better by aajline Manny and oivinc him these puge numbers: $608,624,640$. The first and leust are more economicel, full sigs (sigratures of 32 pp ). As hin is a perfect binding can be depended upon for a book on thir thicknessoclose to $2^{\text {at }}$ without a hardback.

I an wilaing to publish withoui a condercial version or contraction, condensation. ly interwat in a comsorcial veraiou in asparate and if you went I'l go into it seporately. It would have to inciucto pubiluation by a house with sood distribution and with the dedication to reaily push the book. Without this I'd opnose a condengetion at thie tilno But. no simplirication can survive on its onna The stuff is so Byzantine it just would not be credited. But in the mabridgud work it is overwhelming. Sylvia eve flipped obar the second part and Ed over all of it, as i wrote you recently, especially about the sustained aense of horror. However, with the backstopping of the unabridged edition, a simplification could not be suruarily dismissed on simple disbelief. And mece, what I thing this would be for - gnd to assure against comutpion of- the current FBI investigations. the one acivantage of the contraction is mass sales in commercial ahamels and I do NOI moan intitisl paperbaak. A regular hardback version. Or not any of this kind. Moubined with the spectro suit the full work can roally do the joh. The new efforts of those mevely whoring around rugardiess of how they kid themselves adds inppriance on the odther side, protection against their being rebutted effectively.

You are wrong in saying I vould say "no" to anything. I said "no" to Bud on WWIV about differcnt things and for dificrent roasons. Hie wanted me to countersign tho note. aftir I declined his offer to sigh for my bormowing. I would leave these kinds of details up to you and they vould vary with the poople juvolved. I thinl: if a wenl thy one were to do it there should bo so:ve consideration of the roal cost all this raprasents to ne and not an insistence upon full restitution from initial sales. You have a notion, too, of the amount of rowk I have to do on just sajes and distribution and whet this alone meciudes in other woric.

Bud is rich. I was not gring to let hin impose upon me or demean me in any way. However, you know the actualities from your own experienco and our acreencht. It vas that my cash costs be recovered from the top. In fact, however, I have not taiken a pomy oi these costs back and have appliad 100, of the g20ss to your dajt. I didnst even use whet we did not give lanny for the navelopes, etc. I put thet out personally. The diflerence is between your financial situation und Bud's and because it cane at a tIm e of the year we would have some income from Lil's only regular employment. This made it possible for me to reduce the burcion on you. On you it would be a burden. On a Bud it would not be and I would not be willing to live as I do and do without what is comnonplace to most others for a Bud who Wastes nore than I itrearn of and is not hurt by it. Or an Arch Kimbrough.

Thero is another factor here you have not considered. Liow can I póssibly promote the book if I have neither resources nor retwon, from the booki? On WiIV I've not been able to make cails in pronotion simpiy because I oan't pay the phone tollis. I've not becn able to travel, etc. There has to be a distinction fiade and understood between mere publication and a serious effort to get the book sold, which is how itgs oontents get around. Where is the cost of this going to come frow?

Huat this realiy gets to $2 s$ the sariousmess of purpose of anyone who could or would matce publication possible and if it were a person of neans if he'd want me to try and make out with no possibility of incone for the period I'd be printing and promoting the book. At 62 this is a iittie different than at your age. I'rim wiliinge howevor, to do as I heve with WIV on the clume that the book collid accomplish its purposes undur these rather harsh limitations. I consider it not impossible.

I guesa the only anstier I can efive you is assurnice that I'm flexible and that for all practioal purposes you could make any deal you want ezeept that I not put out any cash as I have with WIV. I simpiy can't.

You ask are there any other conditions. On the unabridged wark none. I can!t and won't rovise it and I will if necessary lindt the appendix. The index is on caris for the full text. It would require adding of the appendix to the index end tapying and a cover Samay would do (in this ease I'd hope boine pasd). If one assurves an appendix and an index and a cover are noms, then no preconditions except an economical ijirst print, 5,000 or noro copies. Uthervise all the costs per unit ure too bigh.

There would be some conditions on a companion or later contraction. Here there ant factors I builieve would be strange to you. You know the problera rith fled. That would have to be assurel against. But money here has different peaning. uniess a plablisher mokes a roal cush investment in ain book it is foolish to expect hin to do what is needed in pronotion and advertiging and such a contraction is a loser. The pailisher has to put enough up front to require him to make: a rial of Corte I've been through this two which to regard it as other than $e$ basic publishting truism. This moans that a sizable advance is a minsmum. But it is separete fron independent pubifation of the full work. If they are to cpincide, which at this monont has certain distinct disadvantages, then the publishing cost of the full edition is not onough for a real advance.

These considorations are so wany and so outside your experience that ws.d better' telic about tizem.

Here you called aind I'In stopping for sone lurich and a break.
Ho, it is enoughe On the fixe extainguishers, I owe you ior the xerowing of the Leigh Janes booic and I'll owe you for the second and for the Goulden book so let us just work it out that way. Thoy weze as I recall $$ 12.25$. It is I think $$ 2.00$ for the remaindered book and you've already paid for the fjrst weroxing.

> Best,
bbc to JIW: could ypu consider condensing/popularizing if a deal could be made?
