

Prue - with article

Dear Jim,

4/23/79

From the time ~~inexact~~ I got back from the blood testing until now, close to bed-time, all my work has been outside except for when I rested, when I read, and a pleasant visit from a nice conservative lady, the last lady friend of the late Herman Kimsey.

After Eve left because I am now on buffered aspirin and I had to go get it we went to the China Pearl for dinner.

In the mail was the promised copy of Willis Carto's Spotlight with Martin Prue's article of which I wrote you last week. I read it and what I suspected is true. The stuff about International Bankers and the Trilateralists was not by me and the rest is not my conjectures because, as you know, I never do that.

Nothing I can do about it and the right will love it even if I didn't say it. Eve did. She gets that sheet.

After the results of the clotting time, which are what the doctor wants, whatever that is, I was referred to Hufnagle again. If I'd had transportation he had an opening for tomorrow. He also had one for 2:15 next Wednesday, 5/2, and I have transportation arranged.

I really enjoyed all the outside work, some necessary for today, and I'm pleased I was able to do as much as I did. In pulling the stump of a large Russian Olive, which appears to be neither Russian nor Olive but of the midwest, there was much regrading to do. So I sawed off the other one and will worry about the pieces of stump that may be high enough for the womer to hit. Getting rid of those bushes that were really trees cuts down a bit on winter bird food but it will ease my mowing problems much. I had a borrowed seeder I had to return so I got most of the seedings done.

My arms are a bit tired from the digging and chopping of roots with a dull maddock and pruning the dead branches off the pines but I need the arm exercise. I'm following the practise of getting rid of the brush immediately by running it through the mulcher.

Reminds me: Lil says if those bushes are evergreens, yes, she'd like them for some empty spaces along the fenserow where honeysuckle killed the trees.

I'll send you a copy of the "rice piece when Lil runs the machine again.

Marchetti had an article in the same issue. On Moles. A bit disappointing.

They are also against making King's birthday a holiday. In the article there is reference to known names excised by the FBI under b1. I'll send a copy of that, too.

Best,
