Miss Elsine MacKeigan, Men. Ed. Paperbound Books In Frint R.R.Bowker Co., 1180 Avenue of the Americas New York, N.Y. 10036

Dear Mis MacKeigen,

Your kind letter of the 10th makes me both happy and unhappy. Heppy because of the continued recognition WHITEWASH continues to receive and unhappy because I sent just the information tou request to PW months ago asking for just this listing. A number of book sellers suggested that I do this. We have been, laterally, flooded with letters from people wanting to get the book and not knowing how. The atmage thing is that quite a humber of wholesalers have it and have done well with it.

There are 22,500 copies in print. It is distributed by A&A, Bookszime, Dimondstein, Baker & Taylor, Raymar, United News, District News, Delmarva News, stocked by several distributors specializing in schools and libraries whose names I can look up and supply if you are interested, and my British agent has contracted by Itahian publication by Feltrinelli.

I cannot begin to tell you how many bookstore here; and abroad stock and sell it. For quite a while it was the best-seller in the field. It is evailable to every bookstore in the country through normal distributive channels.

Thank you very much for yours interest. If there is mything else you would like to know, please ask me. There is one suggestion I would like to make, if I may. I am the publisher. I have learned that with modern bookkeeping machines some of the stores are reluctent to introduce new items because it coats as much as $25.00 to do so. Others have personal reason for not waiting to deal with some of the distributors. It could be helpful to us and the store to indicate that WHITEWASH is available from the regular wholesalers and directly from us. Some also call upon us because we can and do give much faster service outside the metropolitan areas.

Sincerely,

Herold Weisberg

Mr. Harold Weisberg Hyattstown, Md.

Dear Mr. Weisberg:

We would like to list your book "Whitewash: The Report on the Warren Report" in our periodical PAPERBOUND BOOKS IN PRINT. The enclosed brochure describes PBIP's function and scope.

A survey made of our subscribers indicated that only listings of titles with wide national distribution are useful. As your book has received world wide attention may we assume you have national distribution through bookstores and jobbers. It is our policy not to list books available through mail order only. Will you please tell us something about our distribution arrangements.

There is no charge for listings.

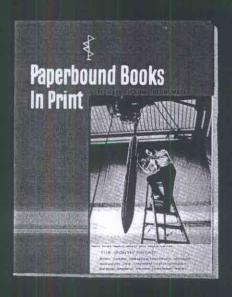

We look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely

Capsule forecasts of every paperback to come

To keep abreast of what soft-cover titles are about to appear, read "The Month Ahead," a regular monthly feature. Here you see concise descriptive summaries of each forthcoming paperback, along with full ordering data (pub date, author, title, publisher, price, number).

These previews are arranged according to the American Booksellers Association-National Association of College Stores 26 basic subject classifications, and indexed by author (starting Nov. '65) and title. Those books which have been singled out by the magazine Publishers' Weekly in its "Forecasts" are boxed at the start of each subject . . . then their complete previews are daggered for quick identification.

Giant cumulative indexes to all in-print books In three of your monthly issues (October, February, June) you get a huge bonus: three separate indexes—by subject, by author, and by title—to every U.S. paper-back currently available. Every entry gives full details on price, publisher, etc. You'll find these ever-expanding indexes invaluable for keeping track of what's in print in paper.

So that you always have an up-to-date record of available paperbacks, every issue in between the big cumulatives will carry a Cumulating Title Index to those books published since the previous cumulation was made. This starts with the November 1965 issue.

Articles, checklists, paperback publishing news PAPERBOUND BOOKS IN PRINT is more than just a buying guide. Throughout the year you get practical articles on soft-cover editing, marketing, buying and selling problems . . . checklists of books on different subjects (Asia, intergroup relations, summer reading) . . . reports on new paperback series, such as Premier's "Science and Discovery," Prentice-Hall's "Foundations of Marketing,"etc.

Use this valuable tool for purchasing and reference...

In the Bookstore:

PAPERBOUND BOOKS IN PRINT is an absolute "must" for every bookseller who handles soft-cover books. Check the forecasts every month to help you choose and order upcoming titles, and spot potential volume sellers.... Keep the big cumulatives handy when restocking, and for answering questions.... Hang extra copies around the store for customer use. PBIP is a "silent salesman," a buying guide, and a comprehensive checklist all in one!

In the Library:

As inexpensive paperbacks become more and more a feature of library collections, PBIP becomes increasingly important to the aware librarian-it's the one sure way of finding out what's available in paper. Here you'll be able to spot paperback originals available only in paper, and you'll have an ideal guide when you want to order extra copies of books in heavy demand. Both library staff and patrons regard PBIP as an indispensable bookfinding tool.

In the Schools:

Paperbacks are in the school to stay...and so is PAPERBOUND BOOKS IN PRINT! School librarians, curriculum and research specialists all refer to it when choosing paperbacks as class texts, planning new purchases, comparing various editions of the same work.

On the College Campus:

Department chairmen and their faculties use PBIP to locate titles in their specific fields, to guide them in building low-cost collections, to stay abreast of forthcoming works in each subject. PBIP is handy, too, when it comes to making out syllabi, "recommended" and "required reading" lists.

"We could not operate our paperback department a single day without the current copy of PBIP.... We keep a copy of the current issue at the cash register and in close proximity to our paperback department."

Mrs. J. Larson, Gustavus Adolphus College Bookstore, Minnesota

"Indispensable!... We use PBIP to let our customers know what's available... in certain subjects or by specific authors, to aid our order-pickers locate books on the shelf, to get code-numbers when ordering from publishers—in short, in just about every phase of our operation."

Louis Gordon, Manager, Paperbound Book Distributors, New York "My Job . . . would be exceedingly difficult, if not impossible, without PBIP! It is the only "catalogue" we use for our customers as well as for ourselves."

R. J. DuPlessis Pickwick Bookshop, California

"Fills a very great need. . . . We want our students to get in the habit of referring . . . to your publication."

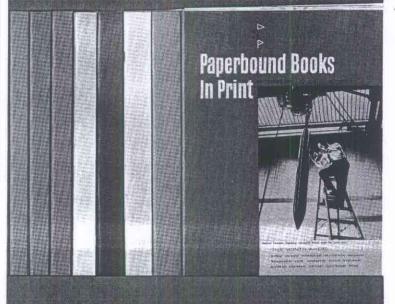

R. W. Smith, Department of History, University of Chicago

"With some 500,000 inexpensive paperbacks in use in our library branches, it would be an impossible job to keep up to date on new paperbacks without a comprehensive aid. . . . PAPERBOUND BOOKS IN PRINT is the best bet. It is also an essential reference tool."

Vincent Richards, Fraser Valley Regional Library, Abbotsford, B.C.

"Most useful. We use it in requesting samples for textbook evaluation work. . . . Also . . . in pricing, book ordering, etc."
