

Michael Luchtadams 2/2/96

Called - wanted to talk to you - has been a long-time admirer after reading a borrowed copy of Whitewash in 1966 -

Had an interesting item to tell - He had worked with a girl from Texas named Sylvia Stern who spent time in used-book stores so he asked her to look for any of the Whitewash books and told her what they were. She told him then that her sister knew the Connallys and went to their house after Connally was home from hospital. He was on the phone and she overheard him say "But I wasn't supposed to be shot." He had lost track of her as she moved away - He would very much like to get a letter from you - (over)

Has ordered all the books and we are now on sufficiently friendly terms that he calls me Lillian.

Found your address in selections but didn't express any interest in CB or NM! when I told him he could get them thru stores.
