harold/lil/hi

here, not as tardily as might be expected, are the NYTimes fantasies on MLK and the ~~day~~ of ~~sunshine~~ shadows from Jan. 1 & 2!!!

curiouser and curiouser is that the second instalment, dated Jan. 1 has a tail-end review of the CBS opus on MLK which according to NYTimes was broadcast Dec. 31 -- it was broadcast Jan. 2 in New York at least.

for the sake of ~~curiouser~~ curiosity, hv included a zerocks (proprietary term) of an old and battered NYTimes clip I found deep in the recesses of my wallowed wallet.

It has always been curious that there were so many "attempts" on the life of Gerald Ford and none on life of Richard Nixon -- unless you count that ~~1971~~ ¹⁹⁷³ flap (or flapdoodle) [?] about the New Orleans "plot" to assassinate Nixon or the ~~perign~~ perignations of Edwin M. Gaudet.

my best (and more) to you
