

Dear Randy,

2/26/95

I've just this minute finished going over the proofs of NEVER AGAIN! in which without asking me they even removed the italics from the title. They put it hard, messed it up in the editing, but it remains as I think you will see a very powerful work.

When I had to do some checking to eliminate gibberish the "editor" added to the Afterword I found that I have an extra copy of the unedited retyped rough draft. I enclose it. When I got to page 15 and what I go into with Ebersole I saw how this may be of some interest to you. Perhaps also in time to Roger.

Please, except to Roger, keep this confidential until the book appears. If he wants a copy before then I have a copy of the unretyped rough I can send him. And now I have much to catch up on.

I've suggested to the publisher, who has yet to do anything to promote anything of mine he has published by way of promotion, that he hold a press conference and give out copies of a few of the documents I use and of the pictures. He has not yet responded. I have some ideas if he does not and will then be in touch with you and Roger.

In haste,
