

Dear Peggy,

4/9/93

First I must tell you frankly that I have received some documents I am not giving to you because of what I wrote you about earlier and you clearly have not thought through, your ^{not} Junior G-Girl faith in the Baltimore police internal investigation and what you ^{always} may be aware that you have done, apologized for it and justified it. I have information that Adams in theory is anxious to get and he would have nothing to do with it. I also have reason to believe that Livingstone is getting information from inside it.

I will give you the information because it involves Mary. With her concern for Buck at the present I am not ending it to her. Again, I'm leaving it to your judgement because I do not want to do what might trouble her at all right now.

There is one report that I do enclose. It is the report of someone who saw and spoke to Mary with detail that she should be able to use to make a positive identification of this one working for Harry.

Harry apparently has access to her phone bills. He refers to a current one and says she make no long distance calls but on March 8 she phoned Adams.

I also have reason to believe that one of Harry's sources in Dallas is named Peter. This Peter saw the two Garys besides her toward the end of last year. I do not know whether he is the source of the report I refer to above and in case.

Also toward the end of last year he referred to what "my phone man" has been doing.

If Mary knows an Eileen there, she and those with her left bugs ~~where~~ where they had been. This reminds me. When I was speaking to Mark Crouch yesterday he suggested that the woman who visited Mary who may have been Richard's former girl friend and was probably working for Harry may have left a bug there. I have no indication that Mary was bugged. I had told Mark that I was getting daily nuisance calls and calls to which my greeting got no response until I shopped for a caller ID device on my phone and then arranged for it to be connected, also on my phone. I've not had either kind of call since and it has been several months.

An emergency court session postponed my states attorney conference today. For the state of Maryland, today is a legal holiday so the office had only a skeleton staff. It is now set for next week.

I wish you could recognize that if the internal police investigation were serious it would need no additional information from us and that if it were serious it would not be refusing precisely the proof it told ^{us} you it wanted.

Best,

Harold
