Dear Harold,

Just a brief note to explain enclosures.

I thought you might want the Butler article since I recall your having mentioned that you were keeping tabs on your "square" friend.

Enclosed is a rough draft I composed for my next letter to the Panel members--hopefully my last. Understand, I've not sent this yet or even made a good copy. Am sending it to you for comment, opinion, suggestion, and approval. I guess it could be said that this is a drastic measure. Yet, what I said in the letter is true. I just can't go on playing games with them. I would like my writing on the Panel/members to be complete, not left hanging in the air as they are forcing it to be. I think the time has come for me to force them to conclude this. With the type of letter I would like to send, even their silence is a response--if they fail to reply within what I consider time enough (2 weeks). All answered me before (save for Fisher's second) within two weeks. This way, their silence is worse for them, and the letter makes that pretty explicit.

I called the post office to find out about ~~XXXXXXXXXX~~ certified mail. According to them, I can send a letter which cannot be delivered until a receipt is signed for it which is sent to me. This way I'd have proof that each received the letter. Cost is 51¢ per letter.

So, tell me what you think of this letter as a follow-up. If you have any better ideas or things which you think would be more beneficial or valuable, then don't hesitate to say so.

The "Community Peace Calander" was given to me by a friend who knows of my work. Circled on the back is a little thing on Shaw. I had no idea that he was here, and I don't know if you'd be interested in this or not. I thought you might want to know what Shaw is telling audiences (and probably being paid for).

Don't bother returning this if you don't want it.

Am rushed now.

Best,
