Dear Mr. Rothermel:

Enclosed are all pages from Farewell America which deal with Mr. H. L. Hunt, Mr. Nelson Bunker Hunt, or the Hunt Oil Company. The entire book should be of some interest to you and I will be glad to let you borrow mine, since I have finished reading it and have made notes on its content. If you order it, as perhaps you already have, it may take months to arrive, as mine did.

As far as I can see, Mr. H.L. Hunt is the individual most clearly "fingered" by the book. The quote at the beginning of the chapter entitled "The Texans", which by the way, is not one of the pages included in the index under his name, stands out like a sore thumb. The end of the chapter is also pretty clear in its intent.

I sent the pages because I wasn't sure than you had them and feel that you should have them as soon as possible. Let me know if you would like to borrow my copy of the book and I will send it immediately. I would have xeroxed other interesting material for you, but I am low on money and figured that you might even have the entire book already anyway.

If you make any big headway as to the sponsors of the book I would appreciate knowing. We are quite disturbed by both it and the movie of the same title. I assume that Harold Weisberg has supplied you with all other information on the book and movie since he keeps me up to date on what he has given you.

Sincerely yours,

Gary Richard Schoener
