Dear Harold:

Per our conversation this past weekend, enclosed are some materials from the Wecht press conference and D.C. Bar mock trial.

I called the D.C. Bar and was told that a videotape of the Wecht & Baden mock trial will be made available. I will try and get you a copy.

I also forgot to mention that I overheard Blakey and Liebeler talking about recent collaboration on a New York Times article to be published soon. Blakey was also pushing a press packet of his own which I was unable to get a copy of.

Regards and best wishes for your improved health,

Steve

Dear Steven,

Thanks for your 6/23 and its enclosures.

Which I'm reading in odds and ends of moments because I am trying to write and between medical appointments and needs there is little time after I take care of each day's mail and book packaging.

I'm trying to do a book on what JAMA did.

Yesterday morning I returned to the chapter I'd ritten when the typewriter ribbon this one replaced was too pale.

As this one is getting to be.

I do not remember whether when we spoke we spoke about some of your former undergraduate friends.

Last I heard from Floyd, some time ago, he was happy as a mailman in the Tampa area and was ative in the union.

Kim is teaching school in Erie, seems to have married, settled dow and gotten happy.

Lila got her PhD, is engaged, works on the Cape in Mass. I've forgotten where byt not far from Brockton.

If the Wecht & Baden videotape is no problem I'd like to have it for achival purposes but do not go to any real trouble because I won't take the time for it. It will be worthwhile for the his orical record, though.

I'm now at an age where each thing I do is as the cost of another I'll not be able to do. I prefer to spend all the time possible putting things on paper based on the knowledge I have and others do not have.

Thanks and best wishes,
