Dear Mr. Wiseburg,

Several months ago, I became acquainted with Jack McKenny's Nighttalk show on WCAU in Philadelphia, and because he has had on his program many interesting guests I have connected my radio to my taperecorder because sometimes the interviews are worth preserving; this is what I have done for the two shows that you have been his guest.

I have tried to locate your book, Whitewash, in bookstores in several cities without luck so that I might compare it with my copy of the Warren Commission Report and draw my own conclusions. I must admit that I am slightly prejudiced in your favor in just listening to Nighttalk and comparing what you have said about the Warren report. However, I would rather have your book before I make any serious decisions. Enclosed is a money order covering the price of the book and postage, but if the postage to Wisconsin is more than I allowed for will you send me a bill for the difference.

When I finish reading your book, and if I come to the same conclusions that you have arrived at, I would feel obligated to "spread the word", and to try to get some Congressional action on a new investigation. And if it isn't too difficult for you, could you give me any information pertinent to the investigation that isn't in your book or refer me to where I can obtain such information.

I hate being redundant, but I hope that more responsible Americans will open their eyes and ears to what is happening around them and to question those happenings that do not ring true. I want to thank you sincerely for your pursuit of the truth.

Sincerely yours,

Phil Slota

Dear Mr. Slots,

Wish I had the time to adequately answer all the fine letters like yours that I am now getting. My experience with Jack McKinney is exactly as you say.

Unfortunately, the wholesalers have not let the bookstore know they have the book. The major ones like M&A, Bookazine, Diamondstein and Reymar have it, should you again talk to your book stores. Schwartz in Milwaukee now has, and, of course, we mail out many, as we are glad to.

A number of people have already told me they have written their Congressmen. I welcome copies of such letters and replies.

There is much information I had to omit from WHITEWASH. It may not seem so, but it is of more than 110,000 words, today a "long" book. That which is appropriate I shall include in a sequel on which I am now engaged. If we have to print that privately, I'll be writing all those who have written me. Also, other books have since been written and appear under commercial auspices. It is my perhaps biased opinion that they add nothing materially to what is in WHITEWASH, as I am confident close analysis will show.

I was disappointed to get no mention in The Progressive, to which I sent a review copy and a personal letter. But this is the climate.

Thanks for your time in writing. You should have your book, which has been mailed, about the time you get this.

Sincerely
