Dear Hal,

Hope this letter finds things well with you. I still wish that I was back in California. I am working a bit too hard, trying to cut down to half time at this clinic, and get caught up on free clinic work. At the beginning of a new grant the work is always harder, because you have to set things up that will run on their own once they are going.

Enclosed are copies of my most recent letters to Harold and Paul. I envy Paul in having his dissertation almost done. My dissertation is still in my mind.

I still have some hopes of getting out to another drug conference, run by Fort Helps, in early October. However, given that they have not answered my inquiries yet, and that staff of the center did not know of it, I wonder if it is still just on paper and a ploy by Joel Fort to challenge David Smith of the Haight Ashbury Clinic. It was the main feature of the leaflet they handed out at the heroin symposium I attended.

Well, I'de got a lot to do and better run. Take it easy.

S. Jay
