

Senate May Probe Oswald's Motive

By DAVID C. MARTIN
WASHINGTON, D.C.

Why did Lee Harvey Oswald kill President John F. Kennedy? The Senate may find out in the next few days.

Senators are expected to ask questions of the Warren Commission's report on the assassination.

The report, which is expected to be released in the next few days, will contain the findings of the commission.

Senators are expected to ask questions of the report, and the commission's findings.

The report will contain the findings of the commission, and the senators are expected to ask questions.

Senators are expected to ask questions of the report, and the commission's findings.

The report will contain the findings of the commission, and the senators are expected to ask questions.

Senators are expected to ask questions of the report, and the commission's findings.

The report will contain the findings of the commission, and the senators are expected to ask questions.

Senators are expected to ask questions of the report, and the commission's findings.

The report will contain the findings of the commission, and the senators are expected to ask questions.

Senators are expected to ask questions of the report, and the commission's findings.

The report will contain the findings of the commission, and the senators are expected to ask questions.

Senators are expected to ask questions of the report, and the commission's findings.

The report will contain the findings of the commission, and the senators are expected to ask questions.

Senators are expected to ask questions of the report, and the commission's findings.

The report will contain the findings of the commission, and the senators are expected to ask questions.

Senators are expected to ask questions of the report, and the commission's findings.

The report will contain the findings of the commission, and the senators are expected to ask questions.

Senators are expected to ask questions of the report, and the commission's findings.

The report will contain the findings of the commission, and the senators are expected to ask questions.

Senators are expected to ask questions of the report, and the commission's findings.