Dear Moo,

Enclosed is my today's letter to George Healy about their story of the 29th on the WYES broadcast. At the time I wrote WYES, I sent you copies, as I did of their "response". However, to save you the time of looking them up, I enclose copies. I sent the same enclosures to Healy.

There was no point in sending Hart what he had. So, I sent him the palest carbon of the Healy letter.

As you know, I do believe in making a record. As you may not believe, there is sometimes good use for a record. In any event, once it is made it can be used.

I do not either urge or recommend it, but if there was a writer or a reporter who could demand time for response to that original WYES show and on it would tell the story of how those three departed from the traditional role of reporters to be workers for one side of what they were allegedly reporting, it might make some very interesting moments. Well done, were the time available-working in a little of Milton Brener and our 544 exchange and his faux pas on the brain matter, it would tell the story of the dishonesty of the campaign reporting rather effectively.

Best regards
