Dear Janet,

Apologies for the ~~day~~ delay in thanking you. I've had two auto accidents, the second as soon as the first repair was made. ~~innocence~~ in both did not eliminate the serious time problems both caused. And I've a one-man publisher who is the total order dept., so I'm always packaging and mailing books which have to go out and which accumulate problems if they don't move promptly.

I've read everything with considerable interest up to your mailing with the note of 1/3. I hope to be able to read that this weekend.

If I haven't asked it, I'd like your permission to let the young lawyer and the ~~only one in the Ray defense~~ ^{really working} read these materials. He and I, actually, are doing all the work. We expect to get an order for a trial. Before then he should go over all of this so that we can decide what we have to investigate further for trial.

I'm also hoping that you remember some of these people and that at some point we can get together for a while and just talk.

Thanks and best,
