

"If the government had not lied from the beginning, there would be little need for a film like "JFK."