Dear Jim and all,

Since filing the affidavits there has been silence from the government and the judge and I've remained too busy on other records and record-seeking to do anything else.

I'm writing this before I forget in a few moments before lunch.

I would rather that until this case in court is finally over that none of what I'll say and send be used or even communicated to others. After it is finally over I do not care.

Believe it or not, that piece Kim Kerr did about you in the National Enquirer about 8 years ago is in the FBI's King files!

It is crazy but it is true!

Some upper-level FBI bureaucrat wanted to know who the hell Jim Tague is.

As I went over those records, which required making some copies, I indicated to my wife, who does the copying, to make one of each referring to you for you. When I go over the copies she made and file the others I'll enclose them and mail them with this.

According to the report to the judge by the government yesterday the FBI has not given me more than 44,000 pages of their King records.

The edition of the Washington Post that gets here did not carry any story yesterday on the release of the JFK records. Today's also did not. If you saved any of the stories that appeared down there I'd appreciate copies. There may well be Dallas coverage that is not of interest elsewhere. In turn such stories may have importance for me. Right now I can't lay my hands on $8,000. So I don't expect copies in the near future.

I've heard of the Sturgis arrest but the Post, knowing Sturgis and the Lorenz women are both very big liars, carried almost nothing. As news I agree with the Post's judgment on this. But I'd appreciate, for file only, whatever appears elsewhere, for people of the future. The story this woman gave the House committee is irrational. So are they for talking to her about it. Sturgis is crazy enough to have threatened her, though.

Hope you are all well, happy and prospering in various ways.

Best wishes,
