89th Year · No. 265 Convrisht @ 1966 The Washington Post Co. SATURDAY,

ohnson Hints A-

AUGUST 27, 1966

Phone 223-6000 Circulation 223-6100 Classified 223-6200 TEN CENTS

Treaty Compromise

Views Viet War as No Impediment

Assures Russians Their Interests Are Not Endangered

By William Chapman Washington Post Staff Writer IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, Aug. 26—President Johnson indicated today that an agreement may be reached with the Soviet Union on a treaty limiting the spread of nuclear weapons.

In a speech filled with unusually warm gestures toward the Soviet Union, Mr. Johnson said, "I believe that we can find acceptable compromise language on which we can all agree."

The President also explicitly assured Soviet leaders that the war in Vietnam would not spread to other countries, would not endanger vital Russian interests, and should not be an impediment to peaceful negotiations on other world issues.

Mr. Johnson said "the dogmas and vocabularies of the Cold War were enough for one generation; the world must not now flounder in the backwaters of old stagnant passions."

First Such Hint

His hint of a compromise on a nuclear nonproliferation treaty was the Administration's first public suggestion that the long stalemate may be near an end. However, Mr. Johnson did not disclose the source of his new optimism. Negotiations on a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons have been bogged down in the 17-nation Disarmament Conference in Geneva, which recessed yesterday after seven months of talks.

The major sticking point has been Russia's objection to any treaty language that would permit sharing of the management of nuclear arms with West Germany. The United States has proposed a multilateral nuclear force in which the NATO nations would have a role and it has refused to foreclose that possibility despite a lack of European cnthusiasm for the scheme.

Suggested Solution

There has been speculation in Washington that the stalemate might be broken by allowing West Germany to participate in Western nuclear See PRESIDENT, A7, Col. 4

Democrats of 13 Western states give unstinting support to President and policies. Page A5. planning through the so-called In Idaho Falls this morning, that wears a nuclear crown," Johnson spoke generally and McNamara Committee while the President spoke at the site he added. "And we cannot be with frequent touches of incidenying that country access to nuclear "hardware." of the Atomic Energy Com- satisfied with a situation in mission's National Reactor which the world is carable of dental humor about the goals was much stronger on the postion battle over the issue.

(These officials said yester. purposes. day that they had as yet found | no compromise language but sented similar proposals for were still working on several such an agreement and discus- Gets Monorary Degree ideas. Mr. Johnson some weeks sions will be resumed on Sept. ago publicly prodded his aides 12. "I am confident that with to find a solution.)

Bipartisan Style Set

Mr. Johnson's appearances in a three-state Western swing today were in the purposefully bipartisan style he set in his New England tour last weekend with both Republicans and Democrats conspicuous on his platforms.

He had come to Idaho, he told a crowd of about 2000 in Pocatello where his plane first landed, to look, listen, and learn. "All Americans . . regardless of party can unite on an occasion like this," he said.

He also observed that all three states visited today have Republican Governors and that his entourage included Senators and Congressmen from both political parties.

With him during the day were almost the entire congressional delegations from Oklahoma, Colorado and Idaho.

In Pocatello, he introduced that conflict continues. both Republican Sen. Len Jordan and former Democratic Rep. Ralph Harding, who are in a virogous battle for the seat now held by Jordan.

Big Welcome in Denver

In Denver, the President got his biggest welcome of the season as thousands turned out at the airport and lined the seven-mile motorcade route in 91 degree temperature.

Three times Mr. Johnson stopped his limousine and bounded out to shake hands and address the exhuberant crowds that swarmed toward him.

"I'm so happy to be here ... to see so many inspiring faces," he declared through a loudspeaker system. The crowds cheered and sang "Happy Birthday, Mr. President.'

mission's National Reactor which the world is capable of (The President's language Testing Station.

sibility of a compromise than other Administration officials that of U.S. officials familiar that U.S. Soviet agreement is that whatever the cause-by that our foreign policy must with the internal Administra- near on a treaty limiting ac design or by chance-almost always be an extension of our tivity in space to peaceful 300 million people would per. domestic policy. Our safest

The two nations have pregood will the remaining issues ary degree this afternoon, Mr. underdeveloped countries can be quickly resolved," he said.

The proposed non-proliferation treaty, the President ac-knowledged, would not prohibit a nuclear war but would "help to prevent a chain reaction that could consume the living of the earth." He added: "We must move ahead-for we all have a stake in building world peace."

Sees Continued Competition

Such agreements and other steps toward peace, he said, does not mean that the United States and Russia would be-come "bedfellows" or would cease competition.

"But it does mean that we must both want-and work for -that day when 'nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war anymore'."

The President's reference to a contained war in Vietnam was an explicit appeal for U.S.-Soviet cooperation while

The U.S. objective in Vietnam, he said, is "local and limited: We are trying to protect the independence of South Vietnam and we are trying to provide her people, with a chance to decide for themselves where they are going and what they will become."

Sees No Threat to Soviets

Mr. Johnson added: "These objectives can be attained within the borders of Vietnam. They do not threaten the vital interests of the Soviet Union or the territory of any of her friends.

"We seek in Southeast Asia an order and security that would contribute to the peace o fthe world—and in that, the Soviet Union has a very large stake."

Mr. Johnson acknowledged y Birthday, Mr. Presi-Mr. Johnson will cele-deterred war and helped to brate his 58th birthday at his Texas ranch on Saturday. "But uneasy is the peace extinction in a moment of of U.S. foreign policy. He confirmed the views of error, or madness, or anger.

where he was awarded a honor- same privations are at work in rror, or madness, or anger. "Nor can I fail to remember I want to affirm," he said, "is ish in a full-scale nuclear ex- guide to what we do abroad is change between the East and always what we do at home." West." Just as Americans look for signs of poverty and oppression as the root causes of vio-At the University of Denver, lence in American cities, the > abroad, he said. The United States believes in negotiations and deliberations with foreign countries just as it seeks to apply those techniques to raciial or labor disputes domestically, he said.

In Pryor, Okla., tonight, the President called for "intense cooperation" of all levels of government to meet national needs. He spoke at the mid-American industrial site, where ground was broken for a new water and sewer system financed by a grant and loan from the Economic Development Administration.