Dear Mr. Skote,

My copy of the record of the Security Council meeting of 4 January 1961, No. 922, is misprinted. The first and the last pages are printed blank, unless the inside back cover also contained part of the debate. If this were true, then my copy is missing the first and last two pages.

Is it possible to get just what is missing?

To simplify what may be confusing, the first page in this copy with printing is 2, the last is 19. I'd appreciate getting just what I do not have. The form is unimportant.

Thank you very much for anything you can do.

Sincerely yours,

Barold Weisberg

Dear Mr. Skeete:

Thank you very much for the information you sent which, although properly addressed, took three weeks to reach me thirty miles from Washington!

I am writing to ask also for any UN information available on the Southeast Asia situation, past and present, and for a copy of the Charter. Is a copy of the 1954 Geneva Agreement available through the United Nations?

If you maintain a mailing list, I should like to be added to it for information on Latin America and Southeast Asia.

Sincerely yours,

Harold Weisberg
