Sir:

TIME is neither faithful nor factual in saying (12/1/74) that "a Warren Commission critic asked to see the 'single bullet' that killed J hn Kennedy and wounded John Connelly."

That elleged bullet did not survive intect. And if for a single minute I believed the official account was other than mythology, I'd not have sued. For what other reason do you think the government went to the Supreme cubt? To withhold nonsecret tests (spectrographic enalyses) that supported its fiction?

That fabled magical "single bullet" - allegedly nonfatel - is also alleged to have inflicted seven wounds, striking bones thrice, and to have emerged unscathed. Assop is closer to reality.

with perjunctory inquiry TIME would have learned that I have also broken that also-fabled "national security" barrier and obtained a "Top Secret" transcript disclosing perjury as the way of spook life (WMITEWASM IV: TOP SECRET JFK ASSASSINATION TRANSCRIPT).

Seven years of major-media neglect, prelude to Wetergete, have enabled corrupt government to corrupt the courts and thereby corrupt the law, converting a mandate for disclosure into a license to suppress. Had there been adequate reporting of earlier efforts, four by me slone, to make this fine law work, history might have been different.

Yours truly,

Marold Weisberg
