Hector Jose Garcia, repairman, Sanborn's Hi-Fi Center, 5551 West Lovers Lane, Dallas, Texas, who resides 6518 Junius Street, Dallas, advised as follows:

One night about two years ago at the Habana Club, located in the French Quarter, New Orleans, Garcia overheard a conversation between (FNU) Orestes and two unknown persons at that club. The latter two unknown persons had made some comment about Fidel Castro of Cuba and Garcia overheard Orestes reply: "Castro should have been notified about that as soon as possible." Garcia assumed the two unidentified men talking to Orestes were merchant seamen. When Orestes saw Garcia standing nearby, he asked Garcia what he wanted and told him to move on. Garcia refused to leave and was struck by Orestes. Garcia called the police, whereupon Orestes told Garcia if he did not leave he would kill him. Garcia left. When the police arrived, according to information Garcia received from friends, they were told by persons at the Habana Bar that a "drunk" had been there and had left. Garcia advised that he was not drinking as he has an ulcer and is unable to do so.

Garcia stated he saw a picture of Orestes in a newspaper in New Orleans a few days later which revealed Orestes as a leader of an anti-Castro organization. Garcia stated that an unidentified waitress at the Havana Club was supposed to have made a long distance call to Fidel Castro personally about that time. He stated that the waitress had made comments to customers when Garcia was there that she had done so. Garcia is undecided as to whether Orestes is pro- or anti-Castro. He described Orestes as a Spanish-speaking male, who may or may not be a Cuban, age middle thirties, 5 feet 5 or 6 inches, light complexion, who has a brother named Efrain.

The New Orleans States and New Orleans Item newspapers on December 22, 1960, contained a photograph of various delegates of the Cuban Revolutionary Front in New Orleans, among which delegates was included Orestes Pena.

The Cuban Revolutionary Council was an anti-Castro organization in New Orleans which ceased to exist approximately in December of 1961 and which had headquarters in Miami, Florida.

Orestes Pena, owner of the Habana Bar, 117 Decatur Street, New Orleans, located in the French Quarter, had, during the years 1961 and 1962, furnished information to the FBI Office, New Orleans, concerning persons who he claimed were pro-Castro in his opinion.

Orestes Pena is described as a white male, age 38 - 40, dark or black hair, wears mustache, medium complexion, often uses sunglasses, height 5 feet 8 inches, 160 pounds. On his departure from New Orleans, on May 1, 1964, he was dressed in a business suit, nondescript in color, which appeared to be a blend of drab olive-green and brown, wearing a brown tie, white shirt, brown shoes, carrying a dark overcoat and light brown expansion-type brief case with handle on top.
