

Movie Probes JFK's Death

New York News

NEW YORK — The continued discussion and questioning on various TV programs about the real truth behind the assassination of President John F. Kennedy has resulted in one independent TV producer coming up with a new angle to exploit the trend. Charles Fries Productions is preparing "The Trial of Lee Harvey Oswald," a TV movie for ABC.

The property itself is not new, having laid dormant for eight years. Originally a play, "The Trial of Lee Harvey Oswald" played here in 1967. Fries bought TV rights to the play from its authors, Amram Ducovny and Leon Friedman.

In writing their play, the authors assumed that Jack Ruby's shot did not kill Oswald, two days after the Kennedy assassination, and now Oswald, is on trial for his alleged killing of the President.

Saul Levitt, author of "The Andersonville Trial," is writing the TV movie script for "The Trial of Lee Harvey Oswald."

Garagiola Moving Up

New York News

Joe Garagiola's career at NBC is still moving upward. Just having been elevated to the key man in play-by-play coverage of major league baseball, Joe also will be the host on TV coverage of a golf event — the NBC Tucson Open on January 10 and 11.
