Dear Bill:

Here are a couple of advance copies on the article, fresh from the press run. On sale date is June 6. Hope it does some good.

Note that I stuck with my dum-dum theory—for a long time I have insisted around here that on the Moorman photograph I can discern a white-shirted man aiming a pistol at the president from the west corner of the concrete wall, about where the blob of smoke or whatever it is shows.

In a week or so when I get a writing assignment done I'm going to sit down and collate some of this material we've got in our files. I think some of it might be helpful to you.

Best regards,

William W. Turner
