Dear Carla,

I've written Chris Roden. Thanks. I did not know that Robert had moved to Dallas and I do not know what Chris's medical problem is. I wonder what Robert is doing to make a living. Or how Chris can keep the house and raise those children.

I've heard that the lawsuits are over the video, not the books, and that one has already been settled out of court. But I know nothing about them other than ~~this~~ this. There is no question, in the book he did steal and he could not steal straight. I understand that is also true of the video, ^{which} ~~which~~ I've not seen.

Jones has phoned once or twice. That is the only contact I've had with him. Debra has phoned several times and she interviewed me over Mailer on Marina. She also asked me to write something about the LaFontaines and Odio. I wrote mostly about the LaFontaines. Sent it to her.

I'm sure you'll find the trip worthwhile and informative and that you'll meet some very nice people.

If Hal Verb is there he is one, very fine, good friend.

He has gone in the past.

So also is Paul Haller, from Florida, a retired man and a friend although we have never met.

Paul told me he is going and I assume Hal will because he has in the past, but he's not told me. Have not heard from him in a while.

Please excuse the haste.

We have company.

Thanks and our best,

Dear Mrs. Weisberg,

I was glad to hear from you, and I'm always glad to get your advice! I'm still going to meet Robert, but at least now I know I need to be a little careful. I think years ago he had his heart in the right place and believed he was helping in the investigation by doing what he did, but like you I feel he's changed. I guess money can do that to people. As far as I know, Christine is at the same address. Bob, as you know, moved to Dallas. I hear he's a permanent fixture now on the Crazy Knoll! But in all seriousness, I hope you can get in touch with Christine. I'm sure she would love to hear from you. Mrs. Weisberg seems to make sense of any situation, no matter how bad it is, and I'm sure Chris could use some of her wonderful wisdom. I can't believe it's almost been a year since the death of my grandfather, (where did the time go?) and I treasure the letters I received from the both of you. You brought comfort and sanity to a situation I felt was totally insane.

Tom Jones from Lancer is a good guy, but doesn't know much about the assassination, which he's already admitted to me. He doesn't consider himself a researcher; he just puts the magazine together. I've heard the Plaza is really small. I'm excited ^{over} to see it, But it will also Be sad to stand where the President died and history was changed. I feel this is going to Be quite a trip for me!

I hope you've Been feeling well and have Been able to work. Say Hello to Mrs. Weisberg for me. I'll Be in touch again soon -

Yours,
Carl
