

7/3/69

Dear Cindy,

Your letter of the 29th arrived today. Having come to a good stopping point in the writing, I'm trying to respond, if only briefly, to all the mail.

Eugene: silence and I expect no more. It pleases me, really, for it gives perspective. Also, all the agencies here. Fine. It makes a clear record. Besides, a devil who loves scripture doesn't need all the scripture. Some is enough. And if John Gilger, from whom I finally hears, couldn't get it, you didn't do badly. He's coming here soon.

Before hearing from you I wrote that part of the addition to the book. It provides no clue to your identity (if you desire otherwise, let me know, but I think it best for your future) and quotes my letter to Eugene and notes his silence. The embassy part refers simply to a brushoff. In the US and it is quite specific, with names, dates, etc. You are merely a friend who made inquiry for me. There were several others, all reporters, of whom John is but one. (He is the most honored British reporter of the day, having won about all their prizes.) I shan't write the embassy. No time now anyway. If I felt I ~~xxxx~~ really had to have it, I'd get it.

Matter of fact, I do, from time to time, have both mail and phone trouble. Also baggage on airlines. But I do surmise it. Mr. Hoover has gone so far as to answer some of my charges before I even made them! This is very wrong in a society like ours, but it is so much worse if you let it stop you.

Dewney has the kind of way out ideas your prof behavior. He does mean well and is on the right side. Merely the wrong way. He has not responded to my request that he copy.

Got your card. You are welcome.

Do not hold their secretiveness against your CIA types. It is required of them. Because it is, it is often better for them if they cultivate the habit. Especially if they intend to stay with the agency.

I haven't kept a tally on what here are called "the mysterious deaths". Many, without doubt, are natural. What impresses me more than their number, now about 40, is their one-sidedness. I know of no death, no serious accident, except to those who may have represented some kind of threat to the official fictions.

By the way, I do think it might be a good idea to have the firm name and address of the lawyers representing the government. One was Maw, another Frisbie (y?), the third Calcutt. I'd presume all in one firm. They also have the docs. Would you please use the phone book for me? Thanks.

With school, work, dentistry and the things you do for me, I hope you are enjoying yourself, as you should.

Many thanks,

Harold Weisberg

Handwritten text in the top right corner, possibly a date or a reference number, including the year 1711.

Main body of handwritten text, starting with a large initial letter, possibly 'D'. The text appears to be a formal letter or a record entry, written in a cursive script.

A second section of handwritten text, continuing the narrative or record, with a similar cursive style.

A third section of handwritten text, possibly a signature or a specific note within the document.

A fourth section of handwritten text, continuing the main body of the document.

A fifth section of handwritten text, possibly a concluding paragraph or a separate note.

A final section of handwritten text at the bottom of the page, possibly a signature or a date.

Your letter came while I was at clinic having all my wisdom teeth Everything always happens all at once seems. But because of that I waited days to call the American Embassy

Again they were as you expected to be. I had I want to say the

the foreign office and that the embassy
a very small role. She said to contact the Magistrate's court but when I pressed about the embassy she said to write to and the proper department would take care of it. Yes, undoubtedly the government is not like the kind you read about in books. I'd address it to whatever dept sounds best ^{notaries or something}. They are terrible (embassy)

It's very true boys can be hurt as girls cannot and the draft board business seems to be one of the more popular avenues for furthering that end. It's quite sad it's used like that.

Strange John Pilger didn't reply. I wonder if he received your letter. I should imagine you must have alot of difficulty with the mail service. My prof has no doubt that most of your mail is probably read before you receive it. True huh?

We'll stay clear of Dauray then. He didn't impress me too much in his letter - from long ago. My prof thought he had some way out ideas and was interested in talking to him.

Oh in case you didn't receive my post -

Card thank you again for the two books. Really great of you. I'm in a speech class now and our big exam kind of thing is to give a 15 minute speech on some subject - the speech being persuasive in nature. I'm going to try and write one or rather give one on this commission business & all the questions involved. So I'm glad I have another copy of Whiteheat that CIA guy still has my other. His boss by the way is in my speech class. They are all very secretive. It amuses me some times. I shall keep a look out for anything in the papers and ask my prof to do the same. We're both behind you. When will Coup #D'Etat

I'm glad I have another copy of Whiteheat that CIA guy still has my other.
