As I think I've told you, I'm working on a book on Posner that Awant to say nothing about for several reason, including to avoid wasting time in responding to letters and on phone calls about it. I'm getting close to the end. I wonder more and more about who Posner really is. For this that "hillrib 10/3 story adds to what I knew and to the record of his apparent lying.

One of the things that interests me is his statement that his father is " a uniom official in San Francisco." It is more curiosity than anything else that makes me what union and what kind of man he is.

What is of more interest is that he in is quoted as saying he went to Berkeley law school "where he was an honor student." He says he went from there to a Wall Street firm, "Feaving two years later to form his own firm."

I'm told the current directory, Hartindale, Hubbell says he went to a small law school in Eria, Pa, as I recall, "Gannon," and passed the bars in 1979.

From there to Wall Street represents an attraordinarily big jump.

It makes no sense that he would voluntarily leave a Wall Street firm to start his own "firm," which may be a more acceptable way of erferring to a sole practise.

That he took a pro bono case against the dengele family and the German Government may not be unusual except that it seems unlikely that in sole practise of his own frim he had the resources that required. And that "nothing came of that suit" is a rather unusual way of avoiding saying why nothing came of it. Other than his book, Mengele.

I would like to do a real library check on standard sources but it cannot be done here and I do not know anyone who has access# to the Who's Whoe in New Yorks for the period beginning in 1980 or those law directoires going back that for or even the directories on writers, like 6 htemporary Vehtors for that checking.

I'm not suggesting that you can do it there, I'm thinking to you.

But, come to think more, this Judenrat has the ego to get himself listed in the Who's Who for you area. When you are at the library, can you check that and if he is in it make xeroxes for me?

Anyway, that he lies about where he got his lae degree is important and makes this story more important. It also says that any time he is interviewed that should be examined with care.

Do you know or have you a way of liming anything about the father, the family, etc?
This guy is really a cold war ultra of the right.

Thanks and best, Hany
