

Dear Greg Wilfinger,

1/18/97

Whether or not I'm the "dean" I'm 85, in impaired health, and I apologize for my typing. It cannot be any better.

Your are correct. I was recommending The Last Hurrah as the source for those two more recent of my books that could get published commercially but by a publisher who not only did nothing to sell them - he refused to fill orders he got by mail! Why is a mystery. Case Open was really butchered. About a fifth, perhaps a little less, was cut out.

But not a peep from Posner or his publisher or his publisher's lawyers.

I restrict myself to the official evidence and advance no theories as solutions. I also do not agree with those who do what I refused to do because I believe it deceives and mislead. the people.

The ^{two} other books I recommend as highly as possible are hard to get. One is Sylvia Neagher's magnificent Accessories After the Fact. The other is Howard Hoffman's ^{Presu}Presumed Guilty. By the time Lane'd Rush to Judgment appeared it was dated and after that he said anything he believed would sell. The others are just about all theories at their best. Some are entirely irrational. There is the possibility that those reading them will retain some of what is not true.

The Last Hurrah has a worthwhile book if you are interested in the Cuba angle that I think has no connection with the assassination by Carlos Lechuga. He was their UN ambassador when the US initiated discussions with them on ending their disagreements. JFK 's assassination ended that. "In the Eye of the Storm."

Garrison's work was fiction based on literary kleptomania. I trusted him longer than I should have. There is nothing dependable in his very attractive writing. I'm not familiar with Michael Collins.

Thanks and best wishes,

Harold Wesley

Dear Mr. Weisberg,

Hi ! Thanks for sending your list of books.

I'm enclosing my check # 2629 for $117.00; for my order which is enclosed.

I've never read your books; but I keep ^{reading} references and short quotations from your books in quite a few books which I have read regarding the JFK Assassination, Oswald etc. One indicated you are the dean of assassination researchers and listed your address, hence my reason for writing to you.

Thank you so much for recommending the Last Harrah bookshop. I assume you are recommending "Case Open" and "Never Again" as books I should read. Do you recommend any others? I would particularly like to hear your opinions of the books of Mark Lane, Jim Garrison and Michael Collins Piper.

Thank you so much and . . .

kindest regards,
 Greg Wilfinger
