Doctor in Sex Case Granted 2d Attorney

Sam Adam, an attorney, yesterday entered the Criminal Court case of Dr. James G. Middleton, 44, the former physician charged with drugging and sexually assaulting two women patients in 1970 in his De Plaines office.

Adam said he entered the case at the request of Middleton's other attorney, Edward Genson, who requested Friday to withdraw from the case because of a dispute with Middleton about comments to the press.

Judge Robert J. Downing denied Genson's request but allowed Adam to enter the case with Genson.
