I have been working more or less regularly since 1923. After spending several months as a salesman for the Singer Sewing Machine Co. in Wilmington in 1930 on a commission basis I accepted the managership of the Rose Hill Golf Course in Philadelphia (Mr. Samuel Cottler, owner) which I resigned in September 1930. I received $18 a week and room and board on this job. In my Freshman year in college I worked ~~xxxxxxxxxxxx~~ in the college library for six months and then accepted a job on the Wilmington Morning News on a space-rate basis. I worked on this paper for 3 1/2 years and quit to come to Washington. During this period I also wrote for the Sunday Star in the same city and did occasional correspondence for out-of-town papers. In 1932 I did by-line features for the Sunday edition of the Philadelphia Ledger until it suspended publication. This job lasted six months and was paid on a column basis (Signature) ($10-$15 a column).
