"A Hodyll of Historical Research" or a Fraud glorified?

By far the most widely acclaimed and influential book on the assassination of President ~~John~~ <sup>John</sup> F. Kennedy is Gerald Posner's Case Closed, published by Random House last August.

U.S. News and World Report's issue dated August 30/September 6, <sup>1993,</sup> in what it described on its cover as a "SPECIAL DOUBLE ISSUE", gave Posner <sup>and his book</sup> that cover and 36 of its 100 pages. More than a third of that issue.

The TV nets stood virtulaly in line to get him to appear. Cable, too. CNN's <sup>-three times beginning August 30.</sup> Crossfire practically shilled for him and his book. But the coup belonged to ABC-TV's August 27 <sup>with Posner</sup> 20/20. With the CIA making it possible, it aired the defected KGB official, Yuri Nosenko, who <sup>Nosenko</sup> had for a time, his Oswald file <sup>0</sup> who then appeared in public for the first time in ~~30~~ <sup>30 years</sup> years.

Lost in the excitement if not in the media predisposition to ignore it <sup>well</sup> as Nosenko's authoritative allegation that far from being an assassin, Oswald could not hit the side of barn:

"In Minsk <sup>with a shotgun,</sup> he was shooting rabbits," Nosenko said. "Would you believe it? He never shot a single rabbit. ~~with a shotgun.~~ And here we see a person shooting with a rifle on a long distance and shooting three, four shots in several seconds?"

Marilyn Oswald Porter, ~~and~~ <sup>and</sup> widow of the alleged assassin, and their daughter June, not intending the promotion they were used for, also were on the nets.

There were <sup>lengthy</sup> newspaper stories pages long and ~~that~~ all around the world. As syndicated it takes up three pages. It was used in this form as far away as outback <sup>4</sup> Australia, as it was in the Los Angeles Daily <sup>major</sup> News (August 29). <sup>almost</sup> Almost all the papers went for it big. The Washington Post was an exception. <sup>almost</sup> They all reveled in Posner's "solution" to the crime and praised him for that great national service.

~~With few exceptions the reviewers all did that, to.~~

 Its Jack Sirica enthused over Posner's "re-indexing" of the Commission's 26 volumes. He gives their official <sup>by</sup> estimated word count of 10,000,000 as 1,000,000. He says that "Posner also employed computer technology not available to the Commission."
 Flacking from the dust-jacket blurbs, Sirica got the historian, Stephen Ambrose, to describe Posner's book as "just a model of historical scholarship." Sirica's description of it is "fiercely researched." That is flacking, not journalism.

Other
 The news magazines and ~~many~~ <sup>a large number of</sup> others also want for it big, too.

The country, really much of the world, was just saturated ~~it~~ with the highest of <sup>for Posner and his book, often this was</sup> praises ~~often~~ accompanied with expressions of thanks. <sup>spectacularly</sup>

Not with Posner not on that side of the controversy;
 With few exceptions, this is the way it was with the reviewers. also once known as "critical"

Although the Sunday New York Times review was ever so much longer, Christopher Lehmann-Haupt's in the daily Times is closer to typical.

He begins it with praise "for the force and ~~the~~ freshness" of the book, signaling out its "facts ... overlooked... ~~it~~ having to do with the biography and character of Lee Harvey Oswald"

 Like Sirica and most other reporters and reviewers <sup>too</sup> he is impressed that Posner "re-indexed" <sup>that he</sup> of those 26 volumes and "interviewed nearly 200 people." To him the book is "brilliantly illuminating."

Getting back to that so praiseworthy "biography" he reports "what a profoundly disturbed childhood Oswald had and what an extreme inclination for violence he evinced as he developed. As Mr. Posner details the events before the crime you can almost feel Oswald developing into the madman who could commit such an act."

This is no exaggeration. In his book and in his appearances <sup>to</sup> Posner refers to Oswald as a born assassin who spent his brief life awaiting his historical moment. <sup>Warren Commission</sup> Posner's source for this is what he says was the testimony of a New York City ~~the~~ psychiatrist, Dr. Renatus Hartogs and his report on his examination of Oswald as an <sup>well a student</sup> unhappy little boy who behaved badly.

with all of the ecstasies in virtually all the <sup>my</sup> media that had the effect of telling all readers, listeners and viewers to rush out and by this sensational new book, the

These are harsh, unpleasant words. I do not use them lightly. They are appropriate and they are true. This is what the Random House dictionary says they mean:

A shyster is "a lawyer who uses unprofessional or questionable ~~the~~ methods." The second definition is, "one who gets along by petty, ~~sharp~~ practises." In slang it is in the "sense of, shady, disreputable." ~~183~~

"Plagiarism" is, the first definition, "the appropriation or imitation of the language, ideas and thoughts of another author, and representing them as one's original work." The second definition is, "something appropriated and presented in this manner."

The verb "plagiarize" is defined, "to appropriate by plagiarism." The second meaning is, "to appropriate ideas, passages, etc., from (a work) by plagiarism." The third definition is, "to commit plagiarism."

It is in their dictionary meanings that I use these words. Not <sup>mere</sup> as figures of speech.

Posner did represent the work ~~of~~ of others as his own work. He did engage in unprofessional and questionable methods. The slang sense of "shady ~~and~~ disreputable" fits what he did well.

country
country was a wash with unpaid promotions for it.

But nobody ever checked Posner and his book out! Not a single reporter and almost no reviewers. Nobody on all those TV shows, Not a single interviewer. No editor or producer seems to have had a single question about either Posner or his book.

And the plain and simple truth is that it is the most ~~deliberate~~ deliberately, brazenly, uninhibitedly dishonest of ~~the~~ all the assassination <sup>books</sup>. In this it has some pretty stiff competition, too!

There is not a single thing in it that is both factual and new.

This includes those so often boasted-of 200 interviews. Posner used them to circumvent the established official ~~evidence~~ evidence that was not congenial to ~~this~~ <sup>in his book</sup> ~~con-~~ ~~dition.~~ ~~And~~ what is significant ~~in that~~ he cribbed!

He is, ~~without~~ by the definition of his own publisher's unabridged dictionary both a plagiarist and a shyster. 3A

Even <sup>his</sup> ~~his~~ formula for his fame and fortune, his successful exploitation and commercialization of the assassination is not his. He took that from the <sup>House Select</sup> ~~of the late 1970s~~ Committee on Assassinations and used it as his own. It is that although the Warren Commission was wrong about just about everything; it nonetheless blundered to the right conclusion.

Although he is selective in using and misusing ~~Commission~~ <sup>Commission</sup> testimony he also lies about it and without that he has no book at all.

In so large a book no reporter, reviewer or producer can check everything but what Posner himself said was most important in it is an obvious beginning point. In the book and in his appearances he said his new biography of Oswald is the most important single thing. <sup>in his book</sup> Then there is also what he says is the fact of the assassination.

Random House's vice president and executive editor is Bob Loomis. He shares Posner's dedication: "To Bob Loomis, my editor who nurtured this project from its inception, and to Trisha, my wife, my partner, my life."

Loomis told Publishers Weekly's Robert Dahlen <sup>of the book</sup> for its <sup>May 3, 1983 issue</sup> ~~story~~ announcing the books to commemorate the <sup>50th</sup> ~~50th~~ assassination anniversary, ~~of the book~~. "At the heart of it is a biography of Lee Harvey Oswald..." 3B/26

~~Posner begins his "biography" describing Oswald, when arrested, as smirking with satisfaction over his historic achievement, killing the President~~

~~Posner~~ Posner begins his "biography" describing Oswald, when arrested for killing Dallas policeman J.D. Tippit, as "smirking" with satisfaction over his "historic" achievement, killing the President - with which he had not been charged. Even his chapter titles are designed to make Posner's case, that Oswald was a maniacal killer, with that potential all his life, and <sup>was</sup> ~~as~~ a Communist (although in his text Posner refers to him as an anarchist) when Oswald had a clear records of hating the United <sup>States</sup>

Posner begins his "biography" describing Oswald as "smirking" with satisfaction over his historical achievement, killing the President. This was when he was arrested. He uses even chapter titles to make his case of Oswald, the athological maniacal killer all his life and as a Communist ~~xxxxxxx~~ (although in the text ~~xxxxxxx~~ referring to him as an anarchist) when Oswald had a clear record of hating the United States and the Russian ~~Comm~~ <sup>Chapter titles</sup> "The Best Religion is Communism" <sup>114</sup> Hunter of Fascist", "Our Papa Is Out of His Mind", ~~As~~ "His Mood Was Bad", "When Will All This Foolishness Come to An End?", "He Looks Like a Maniac".

The last words of his text are, "Lee Harvey Oswald, driven by his son furies twisted and impenetrable furies, was the only assassin in Dealey Plaza on November 22, 1963. To say otherwise is to absolve a man with blood on his hands, and to mock the President he killed."

Posner's sole case for Oswald as this born assassin, aside from over-writing the actual <sup>what he attribute to</sup> evidence, is Dr. Renatus Hartogs. <sup>Hartogs</sup> He is the New York City <sup>psychiatrist</sup> psychologist who examined Oswald when he was a little boy and a truant. Despite Hartogs' importance in Posner's case, he devotes less than two pages <sup>(12-13)</sup> to him and to what he says <sup>Hartogs</sup> gave as his expert opinion.

That he paid such scant attention to Hartogs is wise. In that way he avoided telling his readers that Hartogs is one of those shrinks who used his women patients for free sex. Free, that is, until a Manhattan jury awarded one of those women <sup>Julie Roy,</sup> $350,000 in damages on March 19, 1975. <sup>New York Times 3/20/75; TIME 3/24/75)</sup>

He quotes Hartogs as saying of his examination of this <sup>Oswald,</sup> "when I examined him I found him to have definite traces ~~of~~ of dangerousness. ...a potential for explosive, dangerous, assaultive acting out which is rather unusual in a ~~child~~ child" with a "vivid fantasy life turning around omnipotence and power." (Page 12) Also, allegedly, a "personality pattern disturbance with <sup>schizoid</sup> schizoid features and <sup>a</sup> passive-aggressive tendencies." ~~xxxxxxxx~~ Posner ends this sole basis for his allegation, enlarged upon greatly in his public appearance, saying, "although Hartogs thought he was 'quite clear' in emphasizing Oswald's <sup>o</sup> potential for violence by <sup>λ</sup> the diagnosis of passive-aggressive," he did not explicitly state that since that would have mandated institutionalization. "~~His testimony, Hartogs~~

"Instead," Posner writes, "he recommended that Oswald be placed on probation so long as he <sup>was</sup> under guidance, preferably from a psychiatrist," which never happened. (page 13)

For all ~~this~~ <sup>of this</sup> ~~of which~~ much of which does not appear there, Posner has four citations to Hartogs' Warren Commission testimony in its Volume 8, pages 217, 220 and 223, and ~~in~~ <sup>his report on</sup> ~~to the~~ ~~OS~~ ~~and~~ ~~report~~ ~~he~~ ~~submitted~~ ~~in~~ ~~its~~ ~~Volume~~ ~~20.~~ ~~He~~ ~~does~~ ~~not~~ ~~give~~ ~~the~~ ~~page~~ ~~numbers~~ ~~which~~ ~~indicates~~ ~~he~~ ~~may~~ ~~have~~ ~~been~~ ~~citing~~ ~~it~~ ~~from~~ ~~the~~ ~~transcript~~ ~~of~~ ~~testimony~~ ~~rather~~ ~~than~~ ~~from~~ ~~his~~ ~~examination~~ ~~of~~ ~~it.~~ ~~However,~~ ~~from~~ ~~the~~ ~~testimony,~~ ~~reading~~ ~~it~~ ~~was~~ ~~required~~ ~~by~~ ~~simple~~ ~~honesty.~~ Throughout the book there are indications that Posner did not even have those 26 volumes. What he refers to as his "index" of them may be only his notes.

Oswald's alleged ~~objection~~ <sup>objection</sup> for violence interested the Commission and its counsel, Wesley Liebeler, questioned Hartogs about it. That is <sup>on</sup> one page Posner did not cite, page 221. He cites both sides of this page. All of Hartogs' testimony was of only 10 pages.

Posner has no end note on Hartogs's alleged belief that Oswald should have been institutionalized for his alleged psychiatric problems, a formulation typical of the skilled shyster in Posner. Instead he has a footnote. But it also gives no source. Instead he uses that lengthy footnote for criticism of Sylvia Meagher, author of the brilliant Accessories after the Fact, and of me. Posner cites no source because contrary to his writing, there is no such source. All of this is Posner as Hartogs, the ~~amateur~~ amateur shrinks and his personal mindreading.

Posner knew the truth. It is not just that he made this up. He made it up knowing that it <sup>is</sup> ~~is~~ <sup>what he criticizes</sup> ~~is~~ ~~false~~ ~~from~~ ~~his~~ ~~criticism~~ ~~of~~ ~~Meagher~~ ~~and~~ ~~from~~ ~~his~~ ~~knowledge~~ ~~of~~ ~~Hartogs'~~ ~~actual~~ ~~testimony.~~ This is what that footnote quotes of Meagher: "there is, then, no ~~is~~ <sup>is</sup> basis in any of the available medical or psychiatric histories ~~is~~ for allegations that Oswald was psychotic, aberrant or mentally unsound in any degree." Posner then says, "Meagher's conclusion is contradicted not only by Hartogs but also by two Soviet psychiatrists who evaluated Oswald after his failed suicide attempt."

Those ~~typi~~ Russian psychiatrists were so much of the opposite opinion they turned Oswald loose, without any restraints of ~~any~~ kind and with no requirement that he get psychiatric care.

~~That is the protest of Hartogs'~~ report the page references to which Posner did not -or could not - cite.

Hartogs' response was a bit evasive:

"If I didn't mention it in the report, I wouldn't recall it now."

This left open the possibility that he reached that conclusion and had not included it in his report. So, ~~Liabe~~ Liebler asked this followup question:

"If you have found it, you would have mentioned it in the report?"

Hartogs then testified, "I would have mentioned it; yes" (page 221)

It is not only that Posner presents himself as the expert on the Commission's evidence and the man who had to index those 26 volumes because he found <sup>Heagher's</sup>, the only index, inadequate and thus by his own boasting had to be aware of what <sup>Hartogs</sup> actually testified. <sup>Heagher</sup>, in the very paragraph from which he quotes (on her page 244),

Referring to <sup>Hartogs'</sup> own report, ~~she~~ wrote it "...does not justify the inference that he was unbalanced or deranged. Irresponsible <sup>at</sup> ~~statements~~ purportedly based on the Youth House (<sup>Hartogs'</sup>) report were published and given great prominence in the period after the assassination. They created an exaggerated or erroneous impression, as the <sup>R</sup> report acknowledges (WR ~~744~~ 379) "

Posner is the Commission scholar and its indexer, remember, ~~for~~ <sup>he</sup> says so himself often enough. He is, after all, as the eminent historian Stephen <sup>b</sup> Ambrose told the unquestioning Newsday reporter Jack Sirica, the author of that "model of historical research." So from his own model scholarship and from his claimed indexing and from Meagher's book, Posner knew very well what the Report states where Meagher cited it:

"Contrary to reports that appeared after the assassination, the psychiatric examination did not indicate that Lee Oswald was a potential assassin, potentially dangerous, and that 'his outlook on life had strongly paranoid overtones' or that he should be institutionalized." (page 379 emphases added)

And Posner was, by his own boasting, familiar with <sup>these</sup> the three separate sources that told him the truth.

But if he told the truth he had no book.

So he had his book.

With <sup>Poner's</sup> ~~his~~ vehemence in his never-ending claim on TV that his biography of Oswald is the book's most important part and his repetition of his knowing, <sup>W</sup> false interpretation of what Hartogs' actually testified to, this is one easily checked matter that should have called for checking by any <sup>reppo</sup> honest, responsible reporter, reviewer or producer.

But not a single one did <sup>that</sup>. They plugged the lying book instead, almost all of them. <sup>another</sup> Also easily checked matter is Posner's also oft-repeated claim that he had to "re-index" the Commission's volumes. He could not use Meagher's, the only one, he said. <sup>Dared</sup> not is more likely, given what it reflects above! But neither Sirica nor the young army of others who without any checking at all puffed his book up asked himself the very obvious question <sup>S!</sup> How long does it take to read and index 26 volumes or about 10,000,000 words? Did Posner have the time when all his <sup>"research"</sup> effort was only about a year? <sup>It</sup> ~~That~~ is an obvious impossibility, as each and every reporter and producer and any reviewer who spoke to Posner or read any of his unending boastings about having had to make his alleged index to all those 10,000,000 words should have known.

But even the Times' experienced reviewer, Lehmann-Haupt, who boasted Posner's impossible boast for him in urging all to just rush out and buy this greatest of assassination books, seems <sup>not</sup> to have perceived the absolute impossibility of Posner's having indexed those 10,000,000 words. Certainly from what I've seen in innumerable news stories, reviews and TV transcript, nobody ever asked Posner this question, did he really do that, or asked to see all those indexing cards.

According to both Posner and Loomis the other important part of this book is the "new" <sup>assassination</sup> information Posner obtained "from computer and laser enhancements" of the eyewitness Zapruder film," Loomis's statement to Publisher Weekly's Cahlen.

In one form or another Posner always said this, adding that those techniques were not available to the Commission, not yet having been invented.

This alleged "new" information <sup>has</sup> two parts, each stolen by Posner.

The first he stole from a boy! He disguises that in his book with tricky ~~end~~ endnotes.

Because Posner and his publisher both say this is basic in the book that he gave it less than a page of space in all may seem cursory but it actually is safety that dictated this seeming brevity.

Posner's theory- and it is a theory, no matter how often he condemned theorizing by others, by even those who do not theorize - is that instead of the second of the <sup>only</sup> three shots the ~~the~~ official account admits missing the limousine, he says it was the first that ~~missed~~ <sup>missed</sup>. How does he know it? From "New Zapruder enhancements." They show "a young girl in a red skirt and white top who was running along the left side of the President's car, down Elm Street, began turning to her right. By frame 167, less than 1.5 seconds later, the enhancement clearly shows she had stopped, twisted ~~backwards~~ completely away from the ~~new~~ motorcade, and was staring back at the ~~new~~ School Book Depository. That girl was ten-year-old Rosemary Willis. Some believe ~~that~~ the girl's reaction was because her father, Phil Willis, standing only 10 feet away, told her to stop and come back toward him." (page 321) At this point Posner has his end note 17 for this chapter.

What Posner sources here is the mythology from that famed mythologizer and assassination ~~but~~ Jim Moore told <sup>not</sup> ~~him~~ <sup>that</sup> ~~Willis~~ called to his daughter to turn back.

~~His~~ <sup>99</sup> Posner's next sentence reads: "However, when Rosemary Willis was asked why she stopped running with the President's car, she said, 'I stopped when I heard a shot.'" ~~See~~ Here Posner has end note 18. It reads, in full, "David Lui, 'The Little Girl Must Have Heard.' The Dallas Times-Herald, June 3, 1979, H-5".

This story is cited as Posner's source on only that Rosemary stopped when she heard ~~a shot~~. <sup>nothing else next</sup> ~~shot~~, Posner says. nothing omitted in this direct quotation from a single paragraph,

"The Zapruder film is the visual confirmation that provides the timing. In that split second I thought it was a firecracker. But maybe within one tenth of a second I knew it was a gunshot. ... (in original) I think I probably turned to look toward the noise, toward the Book Depository."

For this Posner has his next endnote, 19: "Rosemary Willis interview with Marcia Smith-Durk, 1979." Besides this being a source ~~not~~ impossible to locate or check, it is limited to <sup>exclusively</sup> Willis's saying that when she heard the shot she turned.

This, it ~~would~~ <sup>as</sup> seem ~~and~~ Posner intended to have it believed, that none of ~~this source~~ relates to those "Zapruder enhancements" his source for which he has no end note <sup>he thus presents it as his own work</sup> giving his source. In fact he stole it from David Lui, <sup>from</sup> when Lui was a boy, 15 years old, living in the Los Angeles area.

<sup>So</sup> ~~And~~ it turns out that Posner had a good reason for ~~that tricky footnoting~~ <sup>this whole noting</sup>, for not giving any source for his fabulous "Zapruder enhancements." It was, in fact, ~~the~~ Posner's own "enhancement" of what he cribbed from what this boy says he saw, with his unaided eye, when he made one of his many examinations of a rather poor copy of that film, all of which then were made from a poor photostated copy of it!

This is how <sup>the</sup> Lee's story begins;

I sat watching the silent Zapruder film for what must have been the 50th time that night. Suddenly, this time, I saw something that startled me: a young girl, running to keep pace with the presidential limousine, stopped abruptly and turned toward the Texas School Book Depository — too early in the film — before any shots were supposed to have been fired.

I turned the film back to make sure that what I thought I had seen was not a product of my own fatigue, but there it was again.

Many assassination investigators have said that the killing was a conspiracy — not because of the existence of a second gun, other bullets or witnesses who saw a second assassin, but because the shots were fired too close together, too quickly for that particular gun's mechanism to fire twice.

But if the first shot had been fired earlier than they thought, that would have left enough time for one assassin to have fired all the shots.

I rolled the film again so I could take a closer look at the girl. She was about 10, wore a red skirt and a white top, and was Caucasian.

I knew that there were many possibilities why a 10-year-old might stop running: maybe her parents called her back, she might simply have become tired, but just possibly she stopped running in reaction to a rifle shot.

I believed the theory that the President had been the victim of more than one assassin. The most common reason for concluding that Lee Harvey Oswald had not been the sole assassin in the plaza that day was some simple arithmetic applied to the Zapruder film.

I knew from my reading that Oswald's gun could fire only one bullet every 2.3 seconds. The FBI calculated that 18.3 frames of movie film passed through Zapruder's Bell and Howell camera every second. If the Zapruder film revealed a shot striking the car or its occupants more frequently than once every 42 frames (2.3 seconds multiplied by the camera's 18.3

frames per second) the assassination of the President must have been a conspiracy, since Oswald's gun could not have fired fast enough to do the job alone.

it. I published that in Photographic Whitewash, which appeared the end of <sup>June</sup> ~~June~~, 1967, on page 138.

(Zapruder's instant reaction was that the shots came from behind him, ~~not that~~ from farther back on that <sup>Grassy Knoll</sup> of which the concrete structure on which he was standing taking his pictures, <sup>efforts</sup> was part. For all their ~~efforts~~ over the month prior to his June 22, 1964 testimony, the Dallas Morning News photographer Tom Billard, who also took important pictures, referred to as "the federales", never completely ~~tricked~~ ~~Zapruder~~ Zapruder out of that belief.

(Despite the great importance of his film in the investigation, despite the Commission's uses of it that under normal procedures required him to testify, to identify it, originally, the Commission did not plan to call him to testify at all. That hand-lettered Max Phillips memo was enough to tell them they did not want to hear what he would say because it is that destructive to the preconception of the lone-nut assassin with which the Commission began its work. (See Post Morton, Introduction, pp. 14-15)) The Commission had planned to file its Report in June. Zapruder was not deposed, with no member of the Commission present, <sup>like the next month.</sup> until July 22. (7H569ff)

(On one page, 572, he testified that the shots came from behind him four times, <sup>only</sup> ~~one~~ to have ~~the~~ Commission Counsel Wesley Liebeler say, "But you didn't form any opinion <sup>at</sup> that time as to what direction the shots ~~came from~~ did come from actually?"

(This Liebeler <sup>- said -</sup> asked with the Phillips note in hand, <sup>his</sup> ~~the~~ note <sup>of</sup> the very day of the assassination in which he quotes Zapruder as saying that the shots came from behind him.)

Lui then goes into his timing of when ~~Governor~~ Texas Governor John B. Connally, another assassination victim who lived until 1993, was shot. ~~It~~ his, too, appears as Posner's work in ~~his~~ Posner's book.

So also does the little boy Luis's conclusion, without which only at basis alone Posner and Random House still again have no book:

This being the case, I subtracted the frame in which President Kennedy was shot from the frame in which Gov. Connally was hit and found that 28 frames at most elapsed between the two shots (238-210=28). This was not enough time for Oswald's gun to be the sole firing weapon

As it happens, Lui was not the first to report a shot earlier than the Commission and the FBI admit any shot was fired. But he is Posner's source, not any fantastic enhancement of no given source.

Abraham Zapruder himself saw it through his camera's lens and I reported Zapruder's observation in my first book, Whitewash: The Report on the Warren Report. (page 47) It was finished mid-February, 1965. It was first published that August.

That Zapruder also heard and ~~felt~~ felt a bullet passing him from the Grassy Knoll that is so infamous to Posner was kept from his Commission testimony but the Secret Service reported that in a barely legible note as filed in the National Archives, where I found it. I published that in Whitewash II. Its date of publication is December 2, 1966.

(Posner, by the way, has both books. He refers to the first several times in his book in ~~contrived~~ <sup>and baseless</sup> criticism of me. He read it.)

So it is clear that the first part of the second most important "new" information in Posner's book is there by literary theivery hidden with shyster-like cleverness.

The rest of that second part was the work of <sup>associates (F.A.A.)</sup> failure Analysis that still again, Posner goes to great and careful trouble to present as his own work, or as work done for him. That work was done for the American Bar Association's <sup>(ABA)</sup> 1992 <sup>(San Francisco)</sup> convention. It was intended to demonstrate to lawyers how they could use modern technology that was unknown to most of them. But this you will not find in Posner's book. Not a word, not even the most obscure hint of it. It is with studied purposefulness written as work done

Failure Analysis is part of a larger corporate structure that has for years used these technologies for its expert testimony in lawsuit involving major accidents of various kinds.

Posner's <sup>enoughly</sup> professional dishonesty is not limited to presenting Failure Analysis' work as his own, as for him, which puts it within his <sup>own</sup> publisher's definition of literary thievery. He hid from his reader and from all of the interviews and TV appearances of which I have records or knowledge that there was a mock trial; that the prosecution was of Oswald; that the defense side had only to create "reasonable doubt" about the prosecution case <sup>and</sup> or did not have to exculpate Oswald; that therefore ~~none~~ none of those impressive technologies had to be used by ~~it~~ <sup>the defense</sup> and none were; that there was a jury; and that what Posner presents as the unquestioned and unquestionable truth in fact the jury held was not that at all. It split ~~almost~~ <sup>and</sup> almost down the middle, hanging. <sup>E</sup> and thus Oswald was found to be not guilty ~~is~~ whereas Posner's version is that what he took from 'Failure Analysis' work was the unimpeachable, established fact and truth.

<sup>Posner</sup> He did know the truth. But the truth meant he would have had no book. So, once again, <sup>again</sup> truth was <sup>yes for</sup> the ~~next~~ victim of Posner's fame and fortune.

We have seen that Newday's Jack Surica wrote that this work was for Posner. Most of those who wrote about this did that in one way or another. Famed Lehmann-<sup>aupt</sup>, too, although less explicitly, saying, "He ~~availabl~~ <sup>avail</sup> availed himself of new scientific and computer enhancement of important evidence, most pertinently of the film of the Kennedy motorcade taken by Abraham S. Ruden."

Most completely hoodwinked was the prestigious Philadelphia Inquirer. That paper, which earned many Pulitzer prizes for its outstanding journalism, concluded its September 7 editorial, "The magic bullet," with these words:

"Posner commissioned a firm that specializes in computer reconstructions for use in litigation to conduct elaborate tests. It confirmed the theory. <sup>For</sup> those seeking the truth about the assassination the fact...<sup>s/</sup> (in original) are incontrovertible," writes Posner."

Those seeking <sup>the</sup> truth about the assassination cannot ~~get~~ get it from either Posner or from the "Failure Analysis" "prosecution" case in its sales demonstration to the ADA convention. It did not have to be truthful in its demonstration, which was to demonstrate the possibilities of this modern technology, and it was not truthful or factual in that work. It stated impossibilities as actualities, it was ignorant of the ~~established~~ officially established fact. It misrepresented test the Commission's testimony and the actual, official-evidence photographs of the crime scene. It, like Posner, ignored all the official evidence that was or tended to be exculpatory, of which its "prosecution" team had to know. And the clinching proof that it is not the truth about the assassination is that when the other side made no such uses of that technology at all and content itself with merely disproving the "prosecution" case, those fine technologies, ~~five of the~~ <sup>five of the</sup> ~~jurors~~ <sup>jurors</sup> five of the 12 jurors agreed with it and said thereby that ~~that~~ <sup>what</sup> the to Posner was "the ~~unapproach~~ incontrovertible" truth was not the truth at all.

~~It~~ without any question at all, the existing and official evidence, of which Posner ~~did~~ <sup>did</sup> know, proved that what Failure Analysis prepared and presented was not the truth, and as it and Posner used it, was in fact false.

I go into this in greater detail in the more than 200,000-word manuscript I prepared <sup>for the record for history</sup> of Posner and his brazen commercialization and exploitation of the assassination ~~that was for and exists now as part of the historical record. I do~~ <sup>is much</sup> ~~this~~ <sup>in</sup> less detail but still, I believe, overwhelmingly, in about a fourth of that manuscript that as I write this is being prepared for publication as Case Open by Richard Gallen/Carroll & Graf.

To quote myself, Posner has trouble telling the truth even by accident!

Of all the many stories <sup>and reviews</sup> I have been sent from the length and breadth of this country and off what TV did with Posner and his mistitled ~~best~~ book, only two raised any real question about Posner's dishonesty in presenting Failure Analysis' work as for him.

Aside from her <sup>lengthly</sup> review of the book, the San Francisco Chronicle's chief book reviewer <sup>Patricia Holtz</sup> wrote a ~~strong~~ "Between the Lines" column for the September 5 issue.

~~That ADA convention and mock trial were in San Francisco.~~

Without <sup>saying</sup> the obvious, that Posner cribbed Failure Analysis' work in presenting it as done for him, ~~she~~ <sup>she</sup> ~~wrote~~ <sup>suggests it:</sup>

~~Posner refers to the study~~

"But to the case of Failure Analysis Associates, the Menlo Park firm that used computer enhancements to reconstruct the JFK assassination for a 1992 study. Posner refers to that study repeatedly but does not explain that Failure Analysis was commissioned by the American Bar Association to create its reconstruction for the ABA's mock trial of Lee Harvey Oswald in San Francisco last year. The trial ended with a hung jury." It chief executive officer) "Roger McCarthy (who testified for the defense at the mock trial) offered what host Brian ~~the~~ Bannmuller called 'a startling conclusion'....a compelling argument that Lee Harvey Oswald did not act alone. According to McCarthy 'the gunman gave up some awfully good shots to take some awkwardly bad shots' to ~~drive~~ (drive) the quarry into a second shooting' by other assassins. ... 'Few ~~sharp~~ sharpshooters, much less Oswald, could hit a moving target taking shots as rapidly as Oswald supposedly did.' He asked McCarthy, 'Can it be done?' McCarthy responded, 'I can't. I'm the best shot I know. I can't do that.' Failure Analysis concluded, 'Thirty years later, no one, not even Failure Analysis, is ready to say conclusively who killed President Kennedy.' Case Open."

So, even the people who did the study Posner uses as his own say of it the exact opposite of what Posner says. He says it proves that Oswald was a lone assassin. The Failure Analysis chief executive office <sup>the assassination</sup> says it was the end product of a conspiracy. Posner says the shooting attributed to Oswald by Failure Analysis and by Posner was easy. Failure Analysis says the opposite- it cannot be done. 144 here

Part of the official evidence that Posner ignores, and it was cited in my 1965 book that he has, is that the very best shots in the entire country, under better conditions by far, including still rather than moving targets and from half the elevation, with that junky rifle overhauled, <sup>and its</sup> ~~the~~ the sight that did not work corrected, all failed to duplicate the shooting attributed to Oswald who, As Posner also knew from that same book, where the Marine Corps' official statement on Oswald's rifle capabilities is that he was a "rather poor" shot.

My source? Those 26 volumes of the Commission, those ~~he~~ <sup>Posner</sup> studied so closely and and even indexed - he says!

(Parenthetically, ought we not consider the consequences of the misuse of this modern technology in trials? Can it not be used to make the innocent guilty? Is it not so costly that its use by those who can afford it, especially the prosecution, unbalances justice against the poor and the weak? Can a judge or a jury perceive it to be wrong when in fact it is wrong if the other side is without the very costly means of proving it to be wrong with similar advanced technology? Can there be justice for those who cannot afford counsel and are represented by public defenders when the prosecution can resort to these new technologies? Do they not endanger justice?)

Washington Post reporter Jeffrey A. Frank wrote the most perceptive of the reviews I've seen for that paper's October 31, <sup>1993</sup> Book World weekly section. Posner being perfect and always accurate, according to Posner, reflects this in his reply printed in that section's December 12 issue. The Post actually gave him almost a half of a page. Posner's other criticisms of Frank's review are not worthy of mention but one in particular exemplifies the skilled slyster in Posner and his deviousness. Indeed, his daring, because he was inviting clobbering:

"The insinuation that I claimed that the FAA enhancements were commissioned for the book <sup>is</sup> false. In the book, the citations to Dr. <sup>(Robert?) (of FAA?)</sup> Piziali's testimony refer to the 1992 ABA mock trial, which is a matter of public record."

There is no mention of the ABA in Posner's book, none to its or <sup>to</sup> any other mock trial, none to any test "testimony" by Piziali.

That there was that Mock trial was "a matter of public record" but that is immaterial to Frank's accurate statement that Posner did use FAA's work as his <sup>own</sup>, without any question at all he did and he designed his writing to on each and every occasion <sup>say that to</sup> the reader ~~is to~~ believe that.

Confronted with this truth, face <sup>of</sup> face on one of those CNN "Crossfire" shows by the eminent forensic pathologist, Dr. Cyril Wecht, instead of responding Posner first launched into an attack on Wecht, his usual practise <sup>method for avoiding response he cannot make,</sup> and when just about all the available time was used up that way he added that Wecht had "distorted" the truth!

Posner has never admitted the disgustingly obvious truth- he stole FAA's work in presenting it as done for him, as most readers and most of the media understood. There are other lies, not just this most designedly deliberate of them in Posner's letter to the Post, including even with regard to this one.

There is not mere "insinuation" in <sup>Frank's</sup> ~~article~~ review and contrary to Posner's letter, it was not by Frank. Here is what he actually wrote:

"Posner uses computer-enhancement material developed by the San Francisco firm Failure Analysis Associates. Yet Roger McCarthy, the firm's CEO, has since expressed outrage over what he calls a 'fundamental misrepresentation' of the data - including an implication that the work was commissioned by Posner."

Which is precisely what the Philadelphia Inquirer said in the editorial quoted above, and so many others, like mine, reflected believing

The chief executive officer of FAA does more than, if politely, refer to Posner as a ~~the~~ thief. He says also that with regard to the fact of the assassination, what Posner referred to as the "incontrovertible" truth, Posner's is ~~not fundamental~~ "a 'fundamental misrepresentation' of the data," of FAA's work <sup>for that</sup> ~~of that~~ alleged mock trial "evidence."

The totality of Posner's and <sup>of</sup> his book's dishonesty is impossible to exaggerate, it is that permeating, <sup>etc</sup> deliberately, fully knowingly on his part dishonest.

Posner was so effective in "implying" that the work "was commissioned by Jim," as "Carrthy said understatedly, that even U.S. Now and World Report asserted a copyright for Posner on Min's work, <sup>in fact</sup> Posner does in his book. Posner's uses of FAA's graphics <sup>even</sup> are noted as copyrighted by Posner himself on page 88 of that special Posner <sup>U.S.</sup> edition!

Even the title of his book is a lie <sup>it is</sup> he knew was a lie <sup>and he admits it!</sup>

He admitted this on two different occasions. On the <sup>at least</sup> ~~second~~ <sup>first</sup> three friends of mine reported it to me. One of them had raised the question with him at a public gathering, does he really believe the case is closed. All three give consistent accounts of his response. One of them says what is almost exactly what the others says but he tells me that Posner began his answer with <sup>precisely</sup> these words, "Of course the case ~~is~~ is not closed." He also explained that his purpose was to direct attention <sup>back</sup> to Oswald. As though for 30 years it had not been on him? <sup>no</sup>

After Posner appeared on Fox TV Morning News with my friend and FOIA layer Jim Lesar, according to Jim's letter to me, "After the end of the show he took me aside and told me, 'look, I know the case is not closed.' He said, in essence, that the title was intended to be provocative." Jim also said that "After the Fox show I appeared with Posner on an Irish talk show by telephone. ... During the course of the show I noted that Posner had told me that he knew the case was not closed. Posner did not dispute my statement."

There is another aspect of the character of this man virtually all the media just raved about - what kind of person is he other than as he reflects in his book and appearance? As he reflects unseen by the media.

He and his wife Trisha were here for three days during which they had unrestricted and unsupervised access to all I have. This includes about a quarter of a million pages of previously-withheld official JFK assassination records, <sup>mostly the FBI's</sup> that I obtained by a dozen <sup>lawsuits</sup> Freedom of Information Act. Some of these suits were precedential in several ways. One led to the 1974 amending of the investigatory files exemption to open CIA, FBI and similar ~~gangs~~ files to FOIA access. All those files are in our basement. Medical and physical limitations <sup>restrict</sup> ~~limit~~ my use of the stairs but I took the Posner's <sup>and</sup> there, showed them how those files are arranged and identified. As he wrote, I "allowed" him "full run" of all. As he does not say, this included unsupervised use of our copier, on which his wife made, <sup>as his book does not report.</sup> by her count, 724 copies. Those he used ~~in his book~~ appear in his notes as the result of his work. This is identifiable to me and not to <sup>most</sup> others because ~~his~~ this "model of historical research" remains to a large degree profoundly ignorant of the subject, so ignorant he lacks any knowledge at all of the FBI's filing and its file numbers. <sup>documents</sup> Knowing nothing about them but the numbers on them, he cited them by those numbers only. And not knowing what the numbers mean, where they were indistinct he got them wrong. By the time he was finished he was still ignorant of the numbers of ~~an~~ the FBI's main assassination files and he got them <sup>even that</sup> wrong. <sup>Ludicrously wrong</sup>

"This great model of historical research was maven indeed!"

He say he "found" my "attitude toward the sharing of information refreshing" and said "I thank him for his generosity in the use of his papers and his time." (page 504)

This <sup>also</sup> is how he handled the great <sup>or</sup> volume of records he got from my friend Jim Lesar and the Assassination Archives and Research Center, <sup>which he heads,</sup> too, using those records also as the result of his own great labor.

How Posner expressed his "thanks" at the dozen points <sup>to me</sup> indexed in his book is his own characterization of himself, as a writer and as a man.

at the same point in his acknowledgements,

As he said of us, "he and his wife, Lily, graciously received both me and my wife, Trisha, at their home for several days."

How does a decent man and a decent writer express thanks and appreciation to an ~~my~~ an enfeebled and ill octogenarian who gives him free the result of decades of productive work and asks nothing for it, who "graciously received" him and his wife and in addition gave them all the time they wanted, Now does he express "thanks" for such "generosity"?

By doing all he can to ruin the old man's reputation and trying to destroy the credibility of his ~~work~~, naturally. For Posner at least naturally.

By distortion and misrepresentation of events earlier in that man's life when they have no relevance to his ~~work~~ book in any event.

In all that time he had his "full run" he could have learned the truth if he had wanted truth for his book in which for the most part <sup>truth</sup> ~~truth~~ is an unwelcome stranger in any event. He should have checked the sources in his book all without any source given. He should have written me and he wrote me but never on the shores in his

He acknowledges taking my time for other reasons but not for something like this, what he writes about me and about my work?

In his dozen references to me he does have two, and only two, criticisms of my six books on the JFK assassination that he has. One is entirely irrelevant, but when he could not find fault <sup>with</sup> in my books he was forced to irrelevancy because he is a very small man who imagines he enlarges himself by attacking others. He thinks that makes them smaller and him larger. His supposedly factual criticism and carelessness of The other is a confession of his own ignorance and his <sup>a</sup> apparent dependence upon sources of well-established undependability. He got himself lost in the city of New Orleans and, for all his ~~derring-do~~ derring-do "personal" investigation there he could not even get an address on a main street right. And based on only what one of his nuts he prizes as sources told him, criticized my <sup>correct</sup> location of a street address <sup>as incorrect</sup> ~~which it was correct~~, <sup>what is correct</sup> as he would have known if he had been there or had at the library used either the city directory or the phone book.

Referring to some of his prized sources <sup>in those</sup> ~~in those~~ often boasted of 200 interviews as mere "nuts" is a kindness to some of them.

One of them, Hubert Dadeaux, published a book, The Underworld of Sex in 1959. Its subtitle is "A documented account of ORGANIZED SEXUAL DEGENERACY" (fol lit) From his position on the most extreme reaches of the irrational far right he <sup>wrote</sup> is writing about modern nudism, equating it with Communism.

His wisdom, sophistication and political understanding <sup>is</sup> such that in sending a fine lady of one of New Orleans <sup>socially more prominent</sup> and <sup>wealthier</sup> families a copy of his book that is so ugly he ~~has~~ used plain paper for its dust jacket, a book that includes all those <sup>ugly</sup> pictures of naked men and women <sup>and</sup> being by the sheriff face on, he also sent her some <sup>1936</sup> literature accusing the late respected conservative Democrat <sup>in</sup> from that state, Hall Boggs, of being a Communist!

That fine woman gave me this ugly and ignorant book endorsed to her and that literature. Mine, unlike Posner's, is a good source.

One of Posner's other prime sources in New Orleans <sup>is</sup> Carlos <sup>a Cuban refugee,</sup> Bringuier. Posner thanks him for "clarifying" so much for him. (page 502) If when he was working in the file cabinet in which I have my <sup>4/</sup> Bringer file he would have seen the FBI's records in which <sup>himself and</sup> Bringuier sought protection <sup>for his family and for himself</sup> from the FBI because he feared they would be killed by the surviving conspirators in what Posner says was not a conspiracy. Why did Bringuier fear, why did he and his family require the FBI's protection? Because he and Oswald had been arrested by the New Orleans police when Bringuier and <sup>two</sup> a few of his like-minded <sup>refugees</sup> <sup>series</sup> broke up an Oswald distribution of literature. If this was not enough of what the <sup>reflect</sup> FBI files <sup>have</sup> held about that prime source <sup>Bringuier is</sup> of such fine "clarification" for him, Posner would also have <sup>found</sup> read that Bringuier went to the FBI with pictures he had taken of me standing near the customs house looking at a bar in which Oswald was said to have staged a spectacular drunk. The FBI must have those pictures, <sup>Bringuier insisted. So, it has them on file.</sup>

Understanding how Posner could not get even an address on a main street correct is understandable when it is apparent he was not her <sup>re</sup> himself to read the numbers off the buildings <sup>and depended on such sources.</sup>

And this is his ~~one~~ one pretendedly factual criticism of all my six books, the others being misrepresentations contrived to defame me for my "openness," my "generosity" and for ~~graciously~~ receiving "him and his wife for several days."

In this examination of a man and a book that are the apotheosis of dishonesty of intent and execution I have limited myself to overt literary ~~the~~ <sup>an one of his more flagrant and basic lies</sup> thievery because it was so easy for the media to learn and report it <sup>them</sup> if not by the simplest of obvious checking, from those who did have the knowledge. Instead of treating Posner and his book as competent reporters, reviewers and producers customarily do, by at least the simplest checking, all fell all over themselves in making a hero of him and in spreading his corrupt and dishonest book throughout the world, to deceive and mislead and to confuse even more people about that most subversive of crimes in a society like ours, the assassination of a President.

Is it ~~and at it be~~ more coincides that this has the ~~effect~~ <sup>effect</sup> of covering the media for its own failures at the time of that tragic great subversion and ever since then? The media that never conducted any real inquiry of its own, accepted without question the obviously unacceptable, incredible official "solution" and then and since then has ~~to~~ sought to convince the people that what cannot be accepted is true and should be accepted? <sup>o</sup>

Of all the hundreds of reporters, reviewers and producers involved in ~~what~~ <sup>almost none</sup> was the glorification of a liar, a shyster and a literary thief, ~~not one~~ thought to do the most elemental of normal checking in the interest of their own professional reputations or the reputations of their ~~reporters~~ <sup>media</sup> employers? <sup>o</sup>

When Posner and his publisher said that his account of Oswald as the ~~born-to-be~~ assassin is so basic, not one thought to check ~~was~~ <sup>what</sup> Posner said Hartogs said to see if he had that correctly? Not one thought to look Hartogs up in their morgues <sup>of</sup> ~~of~~ clippings?

Not one remembered that ~~bar~~ <sup>their</sup> association "mock trial" also reflected in ~~their~~ <sup>their</sup> morgues? or saw it on the cable court channel, where Posner learned about it?

Not one of those who ~~wrote~~ <sup>covered</sup> about that "mock trial" or saw it on the cable court channel thought of writing a story after reading or learning about Posner's cribbing of it and passing it off as work he "commissioned"?

Not one asked those of us vilified by Posner to comment on what he wrote?

Not one thought to consult Heather's book on reading Posner's utterly dishonest, untrue and <sup>of</sup>unfactual attack on her and the quoted part of her book then doing that would have exposed Posner as the liar who so totally misrepresented the sworn "artogs testimony" <sup>that being</sup> the first requirement of his media-created trip to fame and wealth?

Not one asked his publisher to see ~~at~~ peer review, the norm in publishing contro- versial ~~of~~ supposed nonfiction, ~~which~~ which would have disclosed that Random ~~House~~ House had none? Not a legitimate one in any event.

Especially when the exceptional importance of a Presidential assassination and its official investigations are considered, in the entire country, not a single person in any of the major media thought to do what is normal, make at the least a perfunctory check before going <sup>what is</sup> ~~over the~~ clearly most dishonest of all the many books on the subject!

Instead they glorified two <sup>d</sup>frauds, Posner and his knowingly ~~mis~~ titled book.

What is the state of our society and of ~~our~~ ~~media~~ media the proper functioning of which is so fundamental to the ability of our society to work as it is intended to work, based on an informed electio~~n~~ate, when on so vital a subject as what has the effect of a coup d'etat the media so thoroughly abandons its responsibilities?

Particularly with all the serious problems our country faces and for some years has faced, what is the state of our ~~society~~ our nation when the indispensable media has so totally failed itself and the rest of us?

Does not its virtually total glorification of Posner and his book tell us?

Perhaps a bit de trop, but I think not in adding a little perceptive to this self-answering question is what to the best of my knowledge was greeted with total silence by this same major media, a "Commentary", the <sup>December 20, 1993</sup> heading on a column in the New York Observer by Nicholas von Hoffman. That was shortly after the 30th anniversary of that assassination.

"Kennedy does as much to his killer as to his father and his father's money," Hoffman wrote. "Without Lee Harvey Oswald, J.F.K. would just be another nondescript one-term President."

When
this indulgence of irrational hatred, worse because it is also so false, is greeted by monolithic silence from the major media, and we are not in dire straits?

Dear Jeff,

Just before you left yesterday, when we were talking, I realized that in referring to the Secret Service memo with which copies of the Zapruder film were forwarded to Washington the night of the assassination I'd said that it was in Whitewash II, when in fact it is in Photographic Whitewash. I could not get to that correction yesterday but this morning, in haste, I've written it with an addition that, if this is ever used, I'll improve. It needs to be pointed out that any shot from that knoll could not have been fired from Oswald's rifle or by him. And that in and of itself that is proof of a conspiracy. If there is space, Posner's insistence despite the evidence that he misrepresents, that no shot came from there also should be noted.

We are glad you and they care.

Hope you can do it again sometime.

Our best,

Harold
