Warren report critic, Weisberg, will lecture

Harold Weisberg, whose book presents new evidence to support the theory that Lee Harvey Oswald did not fire the shots that killed President Kennedy, will speak at the Student Union Tuesday, July 12.

Weisberg's book, "Whitewash, the Report on the Warren Report" re-examines the controversial case of the Kennedy assassination. The author of this current best-seller will discuss his view for the University public at a coffee hour next Tuesday 3-5 p.m. in the air-conditioned main lounge of the Student Union.

In referring to the Warren Commission's report, Weisberg writes that "never in history have such 'crimes' been solved by such a consistent disregard for truth, honesty and credibility."

Before writing his book Weisberg was a newspaper and magazine writer, a Senate investigator, and an intelligence and political analyst. He now lives on a small farm in Hyattstown, Md.
