Dear Mr. Weisberg,

Your comments to Mr. Wayne Richardson, the very capable Executive Manager of the Holiday Inn, were libelous and slanderous.

If you believed I "needed" help why not call Joan, my wife, Kathleen, my daughter, my lawyers, ~~MAE~~, Sylvia and ~~MAE~~ or our mutual friends of 15 years?
MAE SYLVIA BERRY

Rather, you told a total stranger a fantastic story which could have had tragic results and would have caused a false arrest charge against him since you would deny the conversation no doubt!

Mr Richardson acted professionally and with great competence.

No thanks to you!

Of course, as per attached, such slander is common to you but we warn you not to repeat it! The charges of "thief", "mental case", false papers, imposter, stolen library card, etc are actionable.

Yours truly,

Edward R. Williams

By his own admission! and "Bud" Fensterwald was in 1968, Weisberg's own

Yet Weisberg claims the late Bill - real name William Wood Baxley was not an agent (refer to F.O.I.A. he was merely informer) but sick.
