

Dear Ed,

2/9/76

The kind and the wise things you said in your 2/4 with the (unread) Safire clips could not have come at a better time.

I've been concerned about the kind of medical care I've been getting, have not been able to get our prepaid medical clinic to do anything except exude unjustified optimism, which is how this all developed, and today learned there may be arterial complications. I've an appointment with a local vascular man in the morning.

Turned around the loyalty to class line pleases me. I'm loyal.

I'm letting the Safire column stay on top of the ~~xxx~~ stack. Sound interesting.

I'm glad you made your decision when you were young, too. I made mine without even realizing it until later. One week in Cleveland in June, 1936. I exposed the regional director of the National Labor Relations Board as a fink - and was right - and almost had my neck slit. Then when I found proof that Chrysler was using one of the nastier labor-spy outfits in that outfit's books I was offered a cushy job at Chrysler. Instead they were both exposed. I've often wondered what happened at what was then either Case or Western Reserve, forget which, and the Cleveland Symphony, ~~xxxxx~~ when they found out that their respected board member made his wealth in this way.

Sorry you are depressed. The only way this can be possible is by evidence.

The problem is more than just the crooked media. It is those who have destroyed the value and credibility of evidence, too.

I'm still fighting for evidence, still getting it, and still convinced that if there is a way, it is the one.

I'll be in court again day after tomorrow. They are blinking again. I'm in their eye and they've gone back to their files.

However, I do not think the need is to change minds.

Rather is it to leave no alternatives.

@ I could stay too busy for years if I never got another piece of paper.

Instead I'm trying to make the courts work.

Maybe the odds are against it. But it is worth the try.

What is my/our alternative?

Besides, how else can I live up to your billing?

For it, and especially now, my sincere appreciate.

Dear Harold,
A point Sabine
unintentionally makes is that "The Cover-Up" rests
on a social class basis.
"Politics to the Worst of the Nation" always takes
a lower priority to class.
The Times, The Social Register,
Harvard, Simpson, Thatcher
and Bartlett - "What is politics to us?" Of one class it knows the meaning of "How are things on High St.", well ----- "Dick Helms is a he Rosey Boy".
"That fellow Nixon" "Got Dick in trouble".
"Weisberg is not our kind. He and that type
can hurt us".
So, I was told and

it was indeed true
from that point of view. Loyalty to Class.

"To serve us to rule!"
A well chosen motto
for Guatemalans! For one to stay in the Club, dissent
must remain inside the clubhouse.

My own efforts
removed my name from
the Social Register and put me in Cake class.

I didn't and don't care.

"To the worshippers of the Guatemalans, one who assumes
this attitude is simply
"naive".

Thus, all the evidence
is - for them - irrelevant.
Very striking parallels between the La and Armed cases in terms of "La Haute".

To me you're an authentic
hero, an investigative genius,
a great man.

They can't take the truth
now. Your work is an act of treason. It reveals the inner heat and moral exhaustion of a decadent
elite, too proud to confront

Weak, too weak to change,
too arrogant to share.

How absurd I was
to believe "evidence" would change minds. Or media attention. Or polls.

"We've searched for
a smoking gun in a
holocaust!"
