Dear Harold,

Re: "The Strange Death of Clay Shaw" - The sources are so obvious! Stale stuff, mixed conjecture and another example of uneducated gossipy teaching the village press as "news". What "investigation" did Boyle conduct? None is indicated. The New Times follows this pattern.

Kaiser is a total system of sources. He has been spoon fed much data. And he cannot discriminate or judge its relative value.

But his analysis of the R.F.K. case only shows his own gross lack of source evaluation.

Sitoo, Rolling Stone Week

The Newsweek piece is an obvious hatchet job.

Goldman, author of The Death and Life of Malcolm X, is a
"past master" of the
"balanced" remark.

Please let me know what date you release.

Sincerely,
