

The fatal shot is alleged, as Canale said, to have been fired from the flophouse windowsill and that it bore "microscopic" markings like those of the rifle.
Here are the picture of that weatherbeaten wood the FBI supplied.

There is not one of comparison with the ultra-smooth rifle barrel.

And according to these new papers it would have been the side, not the bottom of the rifle. What a way to shoot from inside a bathtub so close to the wall and so far from the window there was no footing.

See up picture.

Comment on wrong side being taken.

Yet there is no doubt the case hangs on that rifle having been fired from this windowsill and the sill having been marked by it. The last sworn statement was during the evidentiary hearing a October a year ago, when the surveyor the police used swore (p.337) Read Wenzler.

There are other proofs attached to the medical examiner's report.