Dear both,

Adrenalin is wonderful. It is 9:15 and I'm tired and sleepy. If I was not there.

You people were wonderful and we appreciate it. Jim and I talked about it on the way back.

The kids are beautiful. I enjoyed just watching them. You'll have much joy as they grow.

I hope the week has the impact I believe is possible.

I've cleaned up the mail except for a couple of packages. Even some of the re-filing. The rest tomorrow.

Jim got hungry on the way back, at O'Hare. He also remembered a good place to eat. Right where we were, as it turned out. So we had hamburgers at $4.50 because there was little time - so little that we did not finish even them. Then we learned that we were on a supper flight. It was oversold so the hostesses started serving as soon as we were airborne. Naturally we ate little!

We made that plane only because we checked in with TWA as soon as we left NC. We thus had boarding passes and were not among the 17 left behind in Chicago.

Only other event was the dumping of part of a cup of coffee on me by one of those badly overworked stewardesses.

Howard was quite pleased with the reception he received.

May met Jim and those two sweet college girls and the boy friend of one drove me home.

It was good. Thanks much. An extra hug to the kids, best,
